

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT Mrs. Margaret Arnold, a native of New Holland, who died in August, 1889, was Pickaway-co's oldest product and is said to be the oldest person ever to live in Ohio. Born on July 4, 1777, one year after the Declaration of Independence was signed, Mrs. Arnold lived under the administrations of 23 presidents of the United States, beginning with George Washington and terminating with Benjamin Harrison.

In 1889 when a sketch of her remarkable life appeared in "The Cyclone and Fayette Republican" of Washington, C. H., Mrs. Arnold had two sisters and a brother, all of whose ages were more than 100 years. The average age of the family of four was 110 years. At that time it was not believed that any family in the United States, and probably the world, could show a record like this family.

Mrs. Arnold was the only member of her family, natives of Virginia, to remain in Pickaway-co. Preceding her death, she lived with her son, Henry Arnold, in a large brick house, on his 1,400-acre farm, which was located on the New Holland-Waterloo rd., about two miles from the former place. The Fayette and Pickaway-co line divided the farm, 400 acres being in Fayette-co.

Her oldest sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hillard, was living in Lynn-co, Iowa, when the account was written in 1889. She had been twice married and was three years older than Mrs. Arnold, 115 years. The other sister, Mrs. John Bailey was living in South Dakota at the age of 109 years. All three of the sisters were apparently in good health, despite the advanced ages. William Kiser, the brother, was living on the old home place in Virginia at the age of 104 when the account was written. He never left the scene of his boyhood days, having spent more than a century on the old farm.

The following record shows the ages of the family of four:

Ages
Elizabeth Hillard	115
Margaret Arnold	112
Susan Bailey	109
William Kiser	104
Total number of years	440
Average age	110

MRS. Arnold, grandmother of Frank Arnold of New Holland and great-grandmother of Mrs. O. L. Ferguson of E. Ohio-st., was born near Richmond, Virginia, July 4, 1777. A daughter of Samuel Kiser, she was one of a family of 12 children. In 1818 she moved to Ohio, locating at Chillicothe, where she later married Frederick Arnold.

Five children, three sons and two daughters, were born of the union, the two youngest sons being twins. Two of the children reached the age of 90 years. Mrs. Arnold's husband died in 1839 and she never remarried. After staying in Chillicothe one winter, Mrs. Arnold located on a farm on Compton creek in Fayette-co, near the Ross-co line, and later settled near Johnson's Crossing. She was engaged for many years in sewing, making men's clothing, and later went to Illinois where she lived 28 years. She again returned to Ohio and lived with her son Henry for nine years, until her death in 1889.

She began smoking tobacco at the age of 32 and continued this practice for 70 years. She discontinued smoking about 10 months before her death. A remarkable feature of her record was that up to her death, she had an excellent appetite and an account in a Fayette-co paper said, "she could eat like a harvest hand." She never lost a meal on account of sickness, the report also says.

Mrs. Arnold was five feet two inches in height and weighed 110 pounds. She performed her last work three years, preceding her death when she knit a pair of stockings for her grandson. These stockings were preserved for a number of years as a means of showing the excellent work performed by Mrs. Arnold at the age of 109. She was buried in New Holland cemetery.

COUNTY BOARD RACE NARROWS TO 6 SEEKERS

William I. Spangler Decides to Withdraw From Hot Contest

3 ON EACH SIDE

Tarleton Man Aspires to Congress Seat

Believing the action to be "in the best interest of all concerned," William I. Spangler, Tarleton Democrat, today had announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the board of education of Pickaway-co. He expects to ask the return of his petition filed with the board of elections last Friday.

The announcement came as a surprise to many of Mr. Spangler's constituents who believed he would be a good candidate for the board of education. He was expected to run a good race.

ASPIRES TO CONGRESS
Mr. Spangler has already announced that he aspires to the seat in Congress now held by Mel G. Underwood, of New Lexington. He will run for the Democratic nomination next year.

Prospect of a hard fight for the three seats available on the board of education also was considered by Mr. Spangler. Many of his friends were of the belief that to run for the county board would be certain to involve him in the contest with the result that his congressional candidacy would be hurt more than helped by his being in the race.

SIX IN CONTEST
His withdrawal leaves the contest this fall with three men on each side. Wayne Hoover, James F. Willis and A. J. Dunkle have lined up on one side of the fence and W. H. Barch, C. E. Meyers and Wayne Brown are on the opposite side.

The names of the former three were presented to the board of elections on the same petition.

POSTMISTRESS TO RESIGN HER JOB

Mrs. S. E. Hosler, Former Resident Here, Quits Office At Kingston.

After serving more than 11 years as postmistress of Kingston, Mrs. S. E. Hosler has presented her resignation to the proper officials at Washington, D. C., to become effective Oct. 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year.

Mrs. Hosler has been postmistress since 1922, being appointed by the late President Harding. She was re-appointed by the late President Calvin Coolidge and by President Hoover. Her present term does not expire until April 25, 1934, but owing to ill health she is not able to continue in office.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosler plan to remove to this city, their former home, in the near future.

NELSON FREEMAN, 81 DIES IN HALLSVILLE

Nelson Freeman, 81, died Friday at 1:20 p. m. at his home in Hallsville following an eight weeks' illness of heart disease.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosetta Freeman and five children, Mrs. Leota Valentine of near Stoutsville; Mrs. Altha Seniff of near Kingsport; Walter Freeman of near Lancaster; Gurney Freeman of Seattle, Wash.; and Herbert Freeman of Laurelville. Twenty-two grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Hallsville M. E. church with Rev. Dean of Adelphi officiating. Burial will be in the Hallsville cemetery by H. E. Defenbaugh of Tarleton.

DETERMINED LEGISLATURE TO CONTINUE UNTIL FUND FOR SCHOOLS IS OBTAINED

Votes to Remain on Job; Three Tax Sources are Studied

UTILITIES OBJECT

Entirely New Tax Set-Up is Planned

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16.—Admitted in its determination not to quit work without raising money for state-aid schools, the stricken legislature today appeared likely to levy new taxes on public utility corporations, chain stores or liquors—and possibly on three—when it returns here next week.

The strong rural bloc in the house of representatives flatly rejected a move for immediate adjournment yesterday, following the crushing defeat of the sales tax the day before, with a demand that "We must do something to keep the schools open."

Prediction was voiced generally among legislators that $3,000,000—sufficient to care for the weak school districts until Jan. 1, 1934—will be voted next week.

REST OVER SUNDAY

The house will return Monday night and the senate will reconvene Tuesday night. The special taxation committee also took a week-end rest, without scheduling any meetings until Monday.

Believing their golden opportunity has arrived, leaders of the "sock the utilities" movement will concentrate next week on the Haynes bill proposing to levy a 3 per cent tax on gross receipts of gas, telephone and electric companies with annual earnings of more than $50,000.

Senator W. P. Haynes (D), of Coshocton, author of the measure, sees the prospect of enactment of his bill, after many rebuffs.

Amendments reducing the tax to 1.65 per cent may be made. Lobbyists for the utility companies protest they cannot endure such a tax and will fight against having the bill recommended out by the special taxation committee. However, Senator Daniel J. Gurnett (D) of Van Wert, chairman of the

Ford to Employ 5,000 War Vets

Believe Magnate To Conform To NRA Without Signing Pledge.

DETROIT, Sept. 16.—Although Ford officials continued today to deny that the hiring of 5,000 World War veterans is in any way connected with the NRA, the opinion continued prevalent here that it is part of Henry Ford's supposed plans to conform with the spirit of the motor code while remaining technically outside it.

Announcement was made late yesterday by Rex Humphrey, Wayne-co American Legion commander, that Ford would hire 5,000 veterans for "expansion of production," the additional workers will bring Ford payrolls in the Detroit area to the 50,000 point, it was said.

A good war record and an honorable discharge will be required in all applicants for the jobs, Humphrey said.

Despite the denials it was pointed out that Ford if he intends to meet or even approximate the hour provisions of the auto code probably will need a heavy addition to his payroll. Observers felt that the auto magnate by hiring the war veterans, was killing two birds with one stone—enlarging his staff and building up public sympathy which will be his only defense if Washington ever decides to use the "big stick" in the NRA matter.

SCHOOL ENTERED

Bryce Connell, superintendent of the Darby-twp school at Darby, reported to the sheriff's office Friday that someone entered the school building this week and stole two planes and two saws from the manual arts department. The trade names of the articles are unknown.

The Joseph Clothing Store robbery still remained a mystery Saturday with local police and the sheriff's department working to establish a clue. Sheriff Charles Radcliff sent out 250 circulars to police chiefs and sheriffs throughout Ohio and to other larger cities in other states giving a description of the goods taken.

MANY PLANES HUNT AIRMAN

Al Nehf, Airmail Pilot, Missing On Flight From Toledo To Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—A fleet of 12 airplanes took off from Cleveland airport today to search for Al Nehf, air mail pilot, who is several hours overdue on his regular run from Toledo to this city.

All coast guard craft between Toledo and Cleveland also were pressed into the hunt in the belief that the crack pilot may have been forced down into Lake Erie water.

Nehf, 25 years of age, had been due at the local airport at 3 a. m., but as yet has failed to report. Maj. John Henry, airport superintendent, declared that the mail pilot was last reported flying between Sandusky and Vickery, O., eastward bound.

The airman was piloting a small, open cock-pit, single motorized plane, numbered NC-15. The tiny ship was used instead of the regular tri-motored craft because of poor visibility when Nehf left Toledo.

The plane carried no radio and officials expressed a hope that Nehf had been forced down in a location where he could not report to the airport.

CCC BOYS TO COME HOME ON FURLOUGH

Kenneth Henn Writes About 65 Have Re-signed; Plan to Leave West About Sept. 20

Hoping to get home in time for Pumpkin Show, Pickaway-co's members of the Civilian Conservation corps were preparing to leave their camp in the Sequoia National forest, California, about Sept. 20, according to word received from Kenneth Henn, member of that corps.

Henn says: "They just put a bulletin on the board announcing that we are leaving California about the 20th. There are supposed to be 134 boys from this camp leaving. I believe about 65 of the boys here (including Pickaway-co youths) have signed up for another six months."

Squirrels Laud F. D. R. For NRA; Hunters Are Fewer

"Hooray for President Roosevelt!"

It was Br'er Squirrel perched safely and complacently in a tree not far from Fox Post office. Way out there where shotgun bullets fly as thick as Blue Eagles do in the Circleville business district.

"Yeah, and hurrah for General Johnson!"

This time it was another squirrel, this one stalking stealthily across a small open patch.

First day of squirrel hunting season and not so many hunters out. Not so many shots as last year. Not so many fatalities for the squirrel vital statistics.

"There's only one explanation," continued Br'er Squirrel philosophically. "It's the president who's responsible for the dearth of those guys who want to kill us."

"You're right," came the answer from his more timorous companion. "Didn't he put more men back to

Two County Schools Have Failed To Report Enrollment Figures.

WALNUT IS LEADER

Grades Have Nearly 3,000 of Number.

More than 4,000 pupils, boys and girls, are attending school in Pickaway-co, exclusive of Circleville, according to figures announced Saturday by D. L. Buchanan, superintendent.

Only two schools, Scioto-twp and Tarleton, have not reported their totals. Exclusive of these two there are 3,820 enrolled, 2,795 in the grades and 1,025 in the high schools.

Three of the schools are operating under the junior high school plan which makes more high school students listed. This system makes six grades and six high school classes.

A survey of the figures shows that Monroe-twp high school is the largest in the county but it is operating under the junior high plan. There are 146 pupils listed. Walnut-twp operating as a four year high school is in reality the largest with an enrollment of 143, according to Supt. Ray Sponser's figures.

WALNUT LARGEST
Walnut-twp also has the largest grade school with the present enrollment of 301.

Following is the tabulation without figures from Scioto-twp and Tarleton:

Darby: 193 elementary, 76 high;	Deercreek: 269 elementary, 72 high;
Duval: 105 elementary;	Jackson: 188 elementary, 60 high;
Madison: 131 elementary;	Monroe: 247 elementary, 146 high (6-6 plan);
Muhlenberg: 137 elementary;	Perry: 95 elementary, 82 high (6-6 plan);
Pickaway: 215 elementary, 69 high;	Saltercreek: 137 elementary, 65 high;
Walnut: 301 elementary, 143 high;	Washington: 134 elementary, 72 high (6-6 plan);
Wayne: 122 elementary;	Ashville: 230 elementary, 129 high;
New Holland: 227 elementary, 74 high;	South Bloomfield: 64 elementary.

MILK PRICE IS AGREED UPON

Producers, Distributors Get Together Working Out Fair Solution.

A fair price to be paid milk producers by distributors was agreed upon at a meeting of Pickaway-co milk men at the farm bureau home, E. Main-st., Friday evening.

Eighteen producers, led by Clarence Ater, Circleville-twp, met with Ward W. Robinson, S. Pickaway-twp distributor. The price was not made public although it is said to be satisfactory to both the producers and Mr. Robinson.

The committee appointed several weeks ago to draw up a code to present to the Ohio Milk Marketing Commission for its approval or rejection is expected to complete its work sometime next week. The committee includes Mr. Robinson, distributor; Mr. Ater, producer, and Charles Walters, Circleville - twp, producer-distributor.

Unlike a meeting of several nights ago, Friday evening's meet was harmonious throughout, it was said.

Court News

JURORS TO REPORT

Petit jurors are to report in common pleas court at 9 a. m. Monday when the damage suit cases of Clarence T. and Lulu Dowden, of Columbus, against the Board of trustees of Wayne-twp, will be started.

The Dowdens seeks approximately $1,000 as a result of an auto wreck on the Westfall-rd last November when the car in which they were riding struck a culvert and turned over. They claim the trustees were negligent in not maintaining a warning signal near the culvert.

Frank S. Monnett, of Columbus, is attorney for the plaintiffs and Ray W. Davis, prosecuting attorney, will represent the trustees.

LAMSON CASE NEARING JURY

Prosecution, Defense Storm Jury With Pleas In Standford Case.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 16.—Out of the inscrutable silence of death Allene Lamson has been called upon to instruct the jury that was to retire from this courtroom at noon today to sit in judgment on her husband, David Lamson.

"I call upon you in the name of Allene Lamson," the defense has implored the jury, "to send David Lamson forth a free man, purged of the dreadful, false charge that he murdered Allene on memorial Day in their Stanford campus home."

"I call upon you in the name of Allene Lamson," the defense has implored the jury, "to send David Lamson," the prosecution will demand again, "to convict David Lamson. We are here to see that this dead girl gets a square deal."

And today as yesterday, while prosecuting attorney Allan Lindsay closes the case of the people versus Lamson, a strange picture will hang upon the wall.

A picture of the bathroom in the Lamson home, a picture enlarged to almost life size proportions. Over the edge of the tub, face downward, the lifeless head of Allene Lamson, one braid of hair across her face, her arms rigid in death, hanging over the tub, her hands, palms upward, touching the blood soaked floor.

The jury of five women and seven men are not going to be allowed to shut their eyes for one moment to that picture. The prosecution thunders not by accident, but by brutal murder was the lovely Allene done to death. David Lamson killed her on the floor of the bathroom by hitting her on the head with a blunt instrument, and then put her in the tub and pretended to "find" her there.

Murder or accident which do they believe. This jury that listens so attentively?

NEW DRUM MAJOR!

Jane Littleton Elected By Band Members; Has Been Junior Leader.

Circleville high school band members met Friday afternoon and elected Miss Jane Littleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Littleton, drum major to fill the vacancy left by Robert Wilson, a member of last year's graduating class.

Miss Littleton who has been drum major of the junior band is a sophomore.

She received 22 out of 39 votes cast, the others going to her only opponent Paul Davis. The new drum major will make her first appearance at the head of the high school band during Pumpkin Show week, Oct. 4, 5, 6 and 7 for which the band is now rehearsing.

A new drum major for the junior band is yet to be selected.

32 Lives Lost as Storm Hits Mexico

By International News Service

A tropical hurricane, the third to batter the Eastern seaboard within a month, lashed the coast from the Virginia capes to northern New England today, leaving death and destruction in its wake.

Offshot of a storm that took a toll of 32 lives in Tampico, Mexico, and then sped northward, the gale ripped through Norfolk, Va., and surrounding territory, killing

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.— Caught in the tropical hurricane lashing the eastern seaboard, the British steamer New Mexico sent out distress calls today, according to the radiomarine corporation.

The vessel gave her position as off the fourteen foot land light, believed to be near the Virginia Capes. The U. S. S. Mahina is proceeding to her rescue.

The New Mexico is a 6,500 ton vessel, 412 feet in length and with a beam of 55 feet. She is owned by the Elder line of Great Britain.

at least two persons, demolishing homes, inundating towns and cutting two municipalities off from communication with the world.

The full force of the storm was not expected to be felt until late afternoon. But the early morning hours found Norfolk's lower business section under two feet of water.

HOMES SWEEP AWAY

Two houses on Willoughby Split, six miles from Norfolk, were swept away as wind and rain turned Chesapeake bay into a maelstrom.

Morehead City and Beaufort, N. C., were cut off from communication by the storm. Points along the New Jersey coast reported mountainous seas and high winds. The highest tides on record isolated the town of New Bern, N. C. with six feet of water in the streets, the town broadcast an appeal for Red Cross assistance.

Mariners heeded full storm warnings displayed along the coast and hugged harbors or the shore, but the huge waves battering the coast menaced shore property and shipping. New Yorkers, sodden from 48 hours of steady rain, were warned to expect a "heavy" downpour over the weekend.

Cape Henry coast guard officials reported shortly before that the barometer reading at Cape Hatteras at 28.26, and almost unprecedented.

If you were asked—What is the greatest need of our country today, what would be your answer? We are confronted by many problems. Strenuous efforts are being made to solve some of them. But would we be in the mess we are in if certain fundamental laws of right and justice had been observed? If, we had obeyed God's laws, had, for instance, loved our fellowmen as ourselves instead of seeing how much we could do the other fellow? That there has been a breakdown in character needs no argument. Until we recover ourselves in plain honesty and integrity all our efforts for prosperity will profit us nothing. Not all our criminals are associated with the gangsters, some are moving in high circles. The pity is they can find ways of escaping punishment. If we are to recover ourselves in character we must begin in our schools as well as in our churches to emphasize our individual responsibility to a just and holy God. Go to church tomorrow to give your help as a true patriot. Take a friend.

THE OLD FASHIONED SUNDAY

A prominent layman has said: "Sooner or later the world may be brought to realize that the old-fashioned Sunday was not a mere rustic survival from early Calvinism or a tribal rite of the ancient Hebrews, but was a social check valve developed by centuries of human experience, and that a nervous, high strung society which has suddenly abolished it, will rue its loss. The old fashioned Sunday, in short, was one of nature's regulators, checking the tempo of life and readjusting it every seven days. It did for a very large part of the civilized world exactly what every physician and modern psychologist would be eager to do if he could. It forced whole communities of men, women and children to come once a week to a complete rest habit and for a space of twenty-four hours alter entirely their physical, mental and social habits."

Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

HOW MAY A TEACHER PROPERLY GUIDE A CLASS WHEN FOLLOWING THE DISCUSSION METHOD OF TEACHING?

There are some evident steps that must be followed to make a success of this method of teaching. First set the stage; be certain that the members of the class are interested and ready to engage in a discussion. This may be done by permitting the pupils to suggest and share in choosing questions to be considered. Or the teacher may present a challenging question, report an experience, or set up an imaginary life situation, all of which will provoke such an interest as to naturally engage in discussion.

Second, state and analyze the problem. Make sure the pupils clearly understand the content of the question. A blackboard may be helpful in presenting the major questions.

Third, canvas sources of information help suggest sources for research work by the pupils. Help the pupils to distinguish between reliable and unreliable information. Be ready to make summaries and outlines of facts and information gathered; sometimes one of the pupils may do this. Finally, discover and state the solution. His Power Grows

German military history records few promotions in rank similar to that by which President von Hindenburg raised (above) Premier Hermann Goering (above) from captain to general in the Reichswehr. Hitler's right hand man, now holds the portfolios of the Air Ministry, Minister of Interior, President of the Reichstag and Premier of Prussia.

Lesson for September 17

SOLOMON

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 3:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT—Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto him, and bless his name, Psalm 100:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—In God's House. JUNIOR TOPIC—A King Worshiping God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Learning to Worship God. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value of a House of Worship.

I. Solomon Anointed King (1 Kings 1:5-40).

The divine choice as to David's successor had not been known (v. 20). David is stirred to action by the combined appeals of Bathsheba and Nathan. At David's command the faithful three, Zadok, Nathan, and Benaiah, speedily anointed Solomon king.

II. Solomon's Acts to Establish His Kingdom (1 Kings, 1:41-2:34). He noted certain dangerous elements which if allowed to develop would weaken, if not destroy, his rule.

1. Adonijah placed under surveillance (vv. 41-43). Placing him on good behavior displayed both clemency and dignity on the part of Solomon. Adonijah fled to the altar, not to worship God, but to save his life. His repentance was not real. Solomon ordered his execution (2:13-25).

2. Abiathar removed from the priesthood (2:26, 27). He had joined Adonijah in his plot of usurpation.

3. Joab executed (2:28-35). Joab was a party to Adonijah's rebellion. Besides this, he had treacherously murdered his rivals in the army.

4. Shimei executed (2:36-46). Solomon first paroled him and confined him to Jerusalem, but when he broke his parole, had him executed.

III. The Divine Favor Upon Solomon (1 Kings 3:4-14).

1. God's gracious offer (vv. 4, 5). Solomon made a lavish sacrifice, showing that he had strong impulses toward the Lord. This was followed by the Lord's gracious offer.

2. Solomon's wise choice (vv. 6-9). He was keenly sensible of the difficulty and of the responsibility of his position.

3. God's unstinted gift to Solomon (vv. 10-14). Because Solomon appeared before the Lord in the proper attitude, God gave him more than he asked for.

IV. Solomon Building the Temple (1 Kings 5:1-8:56).

1. Preparation (5:1-18). He secured from King Hiram:

a. Wood for beams, ceilings, etc.

b. Stones for the great foundation. These were all to be so shaped that there was to be no sound of the hammer while the temple was being erected.

c. Skilled workmen.

2. The erection of the temple (6:1-38).

a. Located on Mt. Moriah (II Chron. 3:1).

b. Dimensions: Ninety feet long; thirty feet wide; forty-five feet high—this on the assumption that the cubit was eighteen inches in length.

c. Its contents.

(1) The brazen altar. (2) The laver. (3) The golden candlesticks. (4) The cherubim.

3. The dedication of the temple (8:1-66). The dedicatory services consisted of:

a. Bringing up the ark (vv. 1-11). The ark was typical of Jesus Christ. God dwells among his people through Jesus Christ (John 1:14).

b. Solomon's address to the people (vv. 12-21). He pointed out to them that God had chosen David to be king, yet did not allow him to build the temple, but promised that his son should complete the work. c. Solomon's dedicatory prayer (vv. 22-33). In his prayer, Solomon gratefully acknowledged God's goodness in the past, and pleaded that the promises made to his father should be verified. He asked that God's eyes might be continually open toward the temple, so that:

(1) In case of contention he would be their judge (vv. 31, 32).

(2) If smitten by the enemy, even though they had sinned, God would forgive and restore (vv. 33, 34).

(3) In famine, upon confession, God would forgive and send rain (vv. 35, 36).

(4) In pestilence and sickness, God would hear and forgive (vv. 37, 40).

(5) In case of the coming of the foreigner, because of the news of God's favor toward Jerusalem, his prayer should be heard (vv. 41-43).

(6) In going out to battle, their cause should be maintained (vv. 44, 45).

(7) If taken captive, God would hear their prayers and restore them (vv. 46-53).

d. Solomon blesses the people (vv. 54-61).

e. Solomon offering sacrifices of thanksgiving (vv. 62-66).

What was the wisest choice Solomon ever made? Why was it the wisest?

How can we write the commandments of God on our hearts?

How is the presence of God manifest today?

What is the relation of the glory of God to the good of men?

What are the evidences that the worship of God is on the increase?

What can be done in our churches to promote a greater reverence for God's house?

Clericus says, "In vain we build the costliest churches and display on beautiful pulpits elegantly bound Bibles if we do not write the Commandments of the Lord in our hearts and keep them in our lives."

Lesson Prayer: "Help us to put the proper emphasis upon public worship and so relate ourselves to it that there may result an increased reverence for God's house and an increased devotion to God."

Smallest Weasel

The smallest weasel in some localities is called "mouse-hunter." Its scientific label is Mustela rixosa. It measures only six inches from snout to root of tail. The tail is hardly an inch long, and has a white tip—a distinction alone among weasels. Its summer coat is glossy reddish brown above, and white below from chin to vent, and the feet are white.

Paul Dean, who gave an airtight pitching exhibition, and Ray Blades, whose single won the game, led the Birds to a 3 to 2 victory over the Millers. The Birds won the series opener several days previously, and Minneapolis took the second game.

The two teams were to entrain today for Minneapolis, where they will meet tomorrow afternoon in the fourth game of the series.

Dean was taken out for Andy High, pinch batter, in the eighth after holding the visitors scoreless from the second inning on. In the first Hauser, the home run champ of the association, tapped out a four-bagger and Norris duplicated the feat in the next inning. Murray pitched a good game for Minneapolis.

Oils Banqueted By Nickerson

Glenn Nickerson, backer of the Circleville Oil recreation ball team won the only officially played game of the championship series with the Wallis Sluggers, banqueting his team, league umpires and several friends of the team Friday evening at the Pickaway Country club.

The banquet was served by Ralph Barger, club steward, at 7 p. m.

After the repast Mr. Nickerson as a note of appreciation to Dorcy Courtwright who organized the league and managed the Oils presented him with a trophy.

An evening of cards followed the banquet.

Those who enjoyed the evening were Dick Robinson, Carl Purcell, Art Steele, Eve Merriman, Melvin Mettler, Glen Geib, Jack Hetter, Boyce Parks, Eddie Watson, and Paul Wallace, members of the team; Julius Gordon, Cum Robinson, Max Friedman, Ab Reid, James Trimmer, William Carter, William Heeter and Mr. Nickerson.

The Oils will play a Lancaster team in that city Sunday afternoon.

South Hi Gleans 12-6 Victory

Marysville's Central Buckeye league entry put up an awful battle Friday evening against an enormous Columbus South Hi team losing by the narrow margin of one touchdown. South counted 12 points, Marysville 6.

Coach Jerry Kingsmore's boys led 6-0 at the half with Coach Chick Pearce of South tearing his hair at the offense his team displayed. The Columbusites came out for blood in the second half scoring once in each period.

Marysville scored with Bailey, an end, covered a South fumble on the South 30 yard mark. Otto, playing fullback, tossed the oval to Bailey for the touchdown.

The hero—Herman Bell, New York. Took over for Parmelee in the third inning with bases filled but retired the side and kept Chicago scoreless, the Giants winning 4 to 0 and practically clinching the National league pennant.

The goat—Bill Hallahan, Cardinals. Allowed six hits in three innings, walked one man and made an error, finally being chased out, Brooklyn going on to humble St. Louis, 9 to 2.

DUNLAP FACES MAX MARSTON

Youth Against Age In Finals of National Amateur Tourney.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—This most grotesque of all National Amateur golf championships will come to an altogether fitting close today with a Mutt and Jeff round of 36 holes while destiny is douted and reason totters on its throne.

Mr. Max (Bee Bee) Marston, an aloof, astute character, is Mutt for purposes of this story and little Jeff is George Dunlap, Jr., who though seventeen years younger than his adversary really ought to do something about a first class tonic and hairdresser's triumphs and hairdresser's triumphs.

They are all that are left of an original field of 153 golfers, including Ross Somerville, the 1932 champion; Johnny Goodman, the open champion, and Johnny Fischer, the champion medalist. But fate works in a mysterious way its wonders to perform, and so, instead of the great golfers of the field, we have two men playing for the title who almost didn't qualify at all.

In other ways, too, the final is slightly eccentric in its aspects. Marston is 41 and weighs 210 pounds, the whippet, Dunlap, weighs about 135 and is almost young enough to go to Hill school with Marston's son, who is a classmate of the youth who Harston beat in the semi-finals yesterday.

Spartans Face Cincinatti

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 16.—Excitement and determination now reign in the floodwater camp of the Portsmouth Spartans as the team's 19-0 win over the Indianapolis Indians Wednesday night only whetted their appetite for further tastes of delicious victory meat and as a result the Purple Warriors are hungrily facing the Cincinatti Reds whom they battle Sunday, September 17, at Universal Stadium. The game will be called at 3 p. m.

Sport critics witnessing the Spartan-Indianapolis game Wednesday night said that Coach Clark and Manager Harry Snyder have a football team that will be difficult to stop in the National league. The Spartans have the backs and line, and they also have youth, speed, power and skill along with plenty of deception.

But if the Spartans contemplate trimming the new Cincinatti Reds they will have to play top-notch football for the Queen City eleven boasts one of the most up and coming teams in the National Football circuit.

Fans attending the opening league game Sunday will behold some of the best stars in the football firmament. Coach Patsy Clark will undoubtedly parade more talent than the Reds, but the Cincinatti Club also has its share of shining stars that do battle on the greensward.

A few of these Redlegs are Leonard Grant, 1931 All-pro tackle, New York Giants; Lee "Brute" Mullenaux, former Giant and high scorer of the West while attending Arizona University; Tiny Englefersten and Lloyd Burdick, former Chicago Bears; Jow-Jore, star of the St. Louis Gunners and Caywood, 220 pound guard from last year's Brooklyn Dodgers.

Coach Al Jolley will also present for the fans approval the youngest backfield in the League composed of Blake Workman, quarterback and former University of Tulsa star, who was unanimous choice of the coaches as the most valuable player in the Oklahoma Conference; Don Moses, flashy halfback from Southern California University; Lewis Pope, former blocking halfback of Purdue; and Lester Corzine, last season's All-Southern fullback and member of the Davis & Elkin's Eleven.

ASHVILLE 11 LOSES, 26-0

Bremen Too Tough; Promising Halfback, Hurt, Is Lost For Season.

A green but determined Ashville high school football team was defeated 26 to 0 Friday afternoon at the hands of a fast and hard-driving Bremen eleven. The game played in the Fairfield-co town.

Coach Al Kauber although liking victory as well as any one was not down-hearted over the defeat but praised his boys for their refusal to give up in the face of heavier and more-experienced opposition.

A sad blow was dealt to Ashville's hopes for the season when Warren Steinbrook, halfback who entered the Ashville school from Greenfield, suffered a fractured collar-bone in the first five minutes of play. He will be out for the season.

Bremen scored two touchdowns in the first period and one in each the second and third. Ashville did not threaten the Bremen goal line although scoring eight first downs.

The play of Wotan in the backfield was outstanding and that of Morrison, Miller and McGlane in the line was excellent.

The Ashville starting lineup was Ward and Young, ends; Morrison and Williams, tackles; McGlane and Wells, guards with Myers and Miller also playing guard; H. Steinbrook, center; Scoles, quarterback; W. Steinbrook, and Wean, halfbacks, with Cook replacing Steinbrook, and Baker at fullback. The team goes to Grove City next Friday.

ROCHESTER WINS FROM NEWARK 9

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Rochester's Red Wings were one up today on Newark's Bears in the International league playoff. The Red Birds won the third game of the series last night, 5 to 3.

A seventh inning rally developed three runs and gave Rochester its victory.

If the Red Wings take this afternoon's game they will gain the right to engage Buffalo in the final playoff, the winner of which will represent the International league against the American association winner in the little world's series.

The Beautiful Bluebird

The bluebird is seven inches long, with upper parts, wings and tail a bright blue; throat, breast, and sides are cinnamon red, underneath white. The song is "trally-trally." The nest is made largely of dry leaves. Four or six eggs, a pale greenish blue, are laid in each brood and two or three broods are raised in a season between March and November.

CROPS TO REPLACE WHEAT ARE LISTED

Eight different methods of handling the acres taken from wheat production under the terms of wheat adjustment contracts have been announced as "approved practices" by Chester C. Davis, director of the production section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The approved practices are in accord with the provisions of the wheat contract that, "The contracted acreage of 1934 shall not be used for the production of any nationally produced agricultural product for sale." They are based upon the suggestion of the College of Agriculture of the Ohio State University and have been approved by the Adjustment Administration.

A farmer may plant his contracted acres to permanent pasture or to meadow, but land so planted is not eligible to be counted as contracted acreage during the second season, if used for pasture or if a hay crop is harvested. However, if used for hay or pasture other acres may be substituted for the contracted acreage next fall in order then to conform to the terms of the contract.

Erosion-preventing and soil improvement crops may be planted. No restrictions are placed upon soil improvement crops that are planted for the purposes of pasturing workstock or for plowing under as a green-manure crop. For these purposes clovers, rye, vetch, or other legumes may be used.

Soy bean hay and other short-seasoned hay crops are permitted if fed to workstock or to livestock for producing products only for consumption on the farm, or to be plowed under for soil improvement.

Winter wheat planted in the spring as a nurse crop is allowed. Winter wheat or other grains also may be seeded in the fall as a nurse crop if clipped in the spring and not permitted to mature. In this case the intention must be reported to the county allotment committee and an agreement made not to harvest the wheat or other grain crop so used for hay.

the committee, strongly favors a levy on utilities.

YODER BILL READY

The Yoder bill to tax prescription liquors $2 a gallon already has been recommended, and the chain store bill, providing a tax of from $3 to $25 per store, is expected to win its way out, having lacked only one vote when a test was made.

Although Governor George White asked the assembly to raise $8,700,000 for schools for this year and next, the present trend is to be satisfied with the raising of enough to carry out provisions of the Gunsett school-financing bill which calls for expenditure of $3,000,000 for the remainder of 1933, and says nothing about 1934.

"I won't quibble about that," Governor White said when informed of that plan. The Gunsett has not yet passed the House.

The legislature would then draw up a permanent new tax program following the No. 7 election when the state is expected to adopt a constitutional amendment lowering the real estate tax limitation from 15 mills to 10 mills. Taxes on legal liquor are suggested as available sources.

Governor White vetoed items totaling $25,000 for House expenses in a message read prior to the week-end recess. The governor said sufficient "unexpended balances" were available to meet expenses of $10,300 for the house and $15,900 for the senate which he allowed to stand in the bill.

Q. Reports from various NRA boards report that barbers say they "are being forced to raise prices" by their local associations "in order to remain in business."

A. There is nothing in the President's Reemployers to subscribe to local agreements regarding price fixing. Until barbers come under the general barbers' code they may continue with old prices, provided there is no violation of paragraph 9 of NRA "to refrain from taking profiteering advantage of the public" and "in setting price increases to give full weight to probable increases in sales volume."

Q. I am a laundryman. We were closed down on Labor Day and now are working employees 9 hours per day to make up lost time, but shall not work more than 45 hours per week. Does this violate the approved laundry substitution?

A. Yes. Employees are not to be worked on legal holidays.

Q. Can a chamber of commerce approve a petition for a stay when a permanent code has been approved?

A. No.

Q. Must students working in a barber college and serving the public as part of their training be paid the minimum wage?

A. Yes, if that custom was followed prior to June 13, date of approval, of NRA, on commission basis but not otherwise.

China Looks Ahead

WHATEVER may be said about the military weakness of the present Chinese government, credit must be given it for constructive domestic measures that, if successful, eventually will make for a stronger and greater China in every field.

Several public improvement projects already have been launched, but the most important yet undertaken has just been announced. From the north China coast into the farthest west province, a distance of 2,000 miles, a highway and railroad are to be built. Sinkiang province, in which the roads will terminate, border on Soviet Russia.

The cost of the undertaking is placed by the government at 50,000,000 gold dollars. The project will give employment to thousands of workers. More important will be its effects, when completed, on the industrial, commercial and social life of the great sprawling nation. Among the advantages will be opening of northwest China to colonization and economic development, with the prospect that the frequently-occurring famines in this district will be ended. Another result will be to bring the trade of central Asia to the Pacific.

Eight months will be required for the initial surveys, which will begin October 1 under direction of Sven Hedin, famous Swedish explorer.

The projected roads will bring far-flung sections of China into intimate contact and thus help in the creation of a national spirit which should go far in removing the causes of civil warfare, an evil which continues to afflict the republic.

The government apparently recognizes that China must become strong economically before it can hope to attain the position and influence of a world power. In placing its feet on this road, the government is showing a vision that has been lacking in former governments. Its progress will be watched with interest by the world.

A Record Flight

THE navy has chalked up a mark in the field of practical aviation that deserves more than mere passing notice.

From Norfolk, Va., to Coco Solo, Canal Zone, a distance of 2,059 miles, it sent six seaplanes in a non-stop flight. It was the longest non-stop mass formation flight ever made by any nation.

Five of the planes completed the hop in 24 hours and 55 minutes. The sixth, slowed down by engine trouble, arrived about an hour later.

Much of the credit for the achievement goes to Lieutenant Commander D. M. Carpenter, flight commander. Under the skill of the individual pilots, however, depended in a large measure the success of the undertaking.

It is such flights as this that count in judging the practical progress made by aviation. The planes evidently were on a routine mission to the Canal Zone. The flight was in no sense a stunt. The flyers wanted to reach their destination as quickly as possible, and held to their course once they were in the air.

The success of the flight helps to demonstrate how quickly military aid could reach the canal in the event of serious trouble in that section. It also goes to show that the aviation section of the navy is operated by capable flyers. The country ought to be proud of the latest feat.

Wolf eats 35 Lambs—Headline. It sounds like a Wall Street story. Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, whose battle cry once was prohibition and later lower electric rates, has now espoused the cause of a "square deal" for milk producers and consumers, apparently on the theory that all the old suckers need is new bait.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's cinema version of "When Ladies Meet," one of Broadway's biggest hits of the current season, will be the attraction at the Cliftona theater.

The Cosmopolitan photoplay version of the successful Rachel Crothers play was directed by Harry Beaumont who was given an unusually generous freedom in selecting prominent stage and screen artists to fill the principal roles of the comedy-drama.

Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery have the co-starring roles and the other principals are Myrna

CHAPTER XXXIII

"You've changed since you went North," Mr. Keyes went on, not unkindly. "I don't know why. Is it a girl?"

Bill didn't answer.

"Because if it is, you're taking it all wrong. If she's worth having, take her, take a chance like I did. Work for her. And if it's money she's wanting, if it's the lack of that's making her hold out, then let her go, boy. She's not worth the thought."

"If that's all you've got to say to me—" Bill burst out hotly. He couldn't bear this talk. He got up and moved toward the door.

"So it is a girl. . . well, think it over. And I'll thank you not to be leading my son out to help you drown your sorrows, young man."

"Rollo's old enough—"

"You're a couple of young fools. Especially you, flaring up at me when I speak for your good. Go back to the oil fields, you were doing fine down there, and you and Rollo only get in each other's way in the business office. Go back in the morning. Now will you do that? And no hard feeling. . . just begin again, and work hard. Let the old man be proud of you yet. Will you do that?"

Bill took the big hairy hand outstretched to him. "All right, I'll be off in the morning. And—thanks—"

It took him a long time to pack. What a chance he had had. . . what a chance. . . in a way it wasn't fair to the old man to quit, and in another way it wasn't fair to stay. It wouldn't be any use going back now, trying to work again. He had never really cared about the work, it was just because it was for Joan, and now that Joan was lost to him. . .

When he woke Rollo to say goodbye some four hours later, he was wearing the old suit he had worn when he came. "What's the idea?" Rollo yawned. "Look like a tramp."

Bill laughed.

"I sent young Martin back to Bakersfield," Old Man Keyes said at breakfast. After his talk with Bill he felt better. Rollo might be weak, but he couldn't be altogether a fool, his son and Kate's. . .

"But he won't stay long," Rollo grinned. "I notice he only took one suitcase."

"He'd better!" the old man snapped.

"You can't keep 'em! Bill away from the bright lights. He'll be back!"

But Bill never came back. Neither did he ever return to the oil fields. He simply disappeared.

Rollo mourned him for a while. Even the old man missed him. They kept his room as he had left it, with all his clothes, his well-tailored, expensive clothes, hanging up in the closet.

In the spring when Mrs. Mallory, the housekeeper, looked in her room, she found they were full of moths. She sent them to the Salvation Army.

"Rollo says Will'm cleared out without a word," Ruth told Joan one day. "He started for Bakersfield after a little tiff he had with the old man, and he simply never arrived. Can you beat that? Left all his clothes behind, and everything. I wrote Rollo not to worry, he'd be back. Shouldn't wonder if he'd turn up here again. You know I was in love with that boy for a while."

"I know," Joan said.

"Say, wouldn't it be funny if he came back, and we fell out over him again? I never will forget your face that night I started to introduce him. Fascinating devil. I don't know why especially, that kind of lumberjack way about him. I tell you, Johnnie, if he ever comes back—"

Joan let her talk uninterrupted. It had been a long time since Bill's name had the power to stir her. He was no longer a part of her life. It was as if she had lost a limb, and learned to do without it.

But her sea-green eyes were misty when she answered. "I'm sorry he did that. He might have made something of himself. He'll never come back, Ruth."

"Well, for Heaven's sake—how do you know?"

"I don't know—but I'm sure of it."

"Good riddance to bad rubbish!" Maisie said, when Joan told her. Somehow Joan wanted Maisie to know, Maisie who knew so much already. "Thank goodness, that's over!"

But Maisie didn't entirely put him out of her mind.

She loved Joan. And she believed in ghosts. . .

Bill was gone, and nobody knew where he was.

Ruth consoled herself with a young man from the Dutch East Indies, a young man who wore flat Derby hats, and fawn-colored spats. He spoke with a thick, syrupy accent.

"He helps to pass the time," Ruth said. "It's a cinch I won't marry Rollo until the old man comes through with some cash."

"You would if you loved him," Joan said in the serious, good-little-girl voice that always made Ruth laugh.

"Love! What's that? There's no such thing!" She flung the expensive hat she had been trying on back into its box, and slammed the cover shut.

"She's thinking about Bill," Joan thought, and a queer, jagged pain shot through her.

Ruth kept her from forgetting Bill. When she wasn't talking about him she was thinking about him, Joan knew she was. Looking out of the window with a pensive look in her bright dark eyes. Looking at Joan, long and speculatively, wondering how much he had loved her, how much she had loved him.

"He failed us both. . . Ruth, too. . . we're in the same boat, she and I."

He was in Joan's thoughts constantly now. It wasn't that she wanted him back. She would have covered from him had he come. But the memory of that love that had once seemed so clean and beautiful and proud rankled. It had been dragged in the mud. She had loved him. He had smiled at her with his beautiful, clear blue eyes that seemed so loyal and true. . . and slipped out of her life like a shaft of sunlight. Bright and warm for a minute, gone so soon. . . nothing left to touch, nothing to call to. . . just gone. . .

Christmas came. A lonely day in spite of the mound of tissue paper packages Maisie piled on the library table under the imitation Christmas tree with its fat green and red and yellow balls, and the star of Bethlehem on the top. Curtis' gift came in a big wicker basket. Silver Princess, a pedigreed Persian cat, the most beautiful Joan had ever seen. It was Maisie's, the feline aristocrat to be a real comfort.

The New Year's Eve party at the Barstows was another disappointment. Getting ready for it, slipping into the honey-colored robe de style that Francine had given her at Christmas time, standing perfectly still while Maisie crawled around on her knees, making sure the long, full skirt hung just right, and letting cool damp whiffs of jasmine spray into her hair from Maisie's cut glass atomizer, was the best part.

There were too many people at the party. Too many imitations, laughing girls. Too many amorous bored looking young men who were tired of dancing and wanted to take her down town for "some real stuff. . . come on—we'll never be missed!"

"Curtis is the only one I cared anything about and I hardly saw him," she confided to Maisie afterwards. "Of course, he was the host, but Mrs. Barstow never let him come within a mile of me—"

"So that's it. Well I'll fix you, you old crow!" Maisie said to herself. "Pretending to rush Joan, askin' her to all those social functions, and then treating her like that!"

She decided on a little dinner party of her own. "Yes, and there won't be anyone there but him and Johnnie—"

She planned the menu first, every bit of it, from the tomato soup with whipped cream to the cafe noir and after-dinner mints, before she invited Curtis by telephone.

"Is this Mr. Barstow? I was just wondering. . . this is Miss Kimmer, Maisie Kimmer, Joan calls me Maisie, everybody does. . . I was just wondering if some night you wanted to come out to my place for dinner? Oh, that'll be fine. . . no, tonight, that is I was just thinking of tonight. . . could you come next Thursday?"

Loy, Alice Brady who makes her first talkie appearance in this picture following her recent stage triumphs in "Mademoiselle" and "Mourning Becomes Electra," and Frank Morgan who contributed a memorable portrayal to "Reunion in Vienna."

The thesis of "When Ladies Meet" is based on the conclusion of what would happen when the wife of a philandering husband meets the woman on whom this husband is now lavishing his attentions. The plot achieves its originality on the fact that its story tonight, that is I was just thinking of tonight. . . could you come next Thursday?"

aware of the other's identity. They are unexpectedly brought together at the home of a friend and before long take each other into mutual confidence. When each subsequently discovers who the other is, the sparks begin to fly.

The settings in "When Ladies Meet" range from a millionaire's boathouse on the Hudson River to a rambling and picturesque remodeled farm house in Connecticut. They were designed by Edw. Gibbons, with interior by Edwin Willis, and are said to have attracted considerable attention during the filming of the production.

TO LOSE FAT

Miss M. Katner of Brooklyn, N. Y. writes: "Have used Kruschen for the past 4 months and have not only lost 35 pounds but feel so much better in every way. Even for people who don't care to reduce, Kruschen is wonderful to keep the system healthy. I being a nurse should know for I've tried so many things but only Kruschen answered all purposes." (May 15, 1930).

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast. You will miss a morning-a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle-get Kruschen Salts at any drugstore in America. If not joyful, satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Japanese Wedge

American naval men were worried recently by secret dickering between the Japanese and Brazil for the construction of a Brazilian naval training ship . . . There is a large Japanese colony in Brazil and it looked like a Japanese naval wedge on the South American continent.

After some under cover wire-pulling a British firm finally got the job . . . Jefferson Caffery, slated to take Sumner Welles' place as Ambassador to Cuba, has been fretting because the Cuban crisis keeps him in Washington . . . Caffery has several hundred acres of cotton in southern Louisiana which he wanted to look after before he began his new job.

Consumption

What some of the Recovery experts are watching especially is increased consumption of "producer commodities," that is, steel, lumber, metals and the materials which go into factory producing equipment . . . This is because these commodities suffered most during the depression . . . Consumption of meat, bread, tobacco, textiles, clothes and other essentials decreased hardly at all . . . But materials for factory production took a terrific wallop . . . On Monday night of this week it looked almost certain that violent civil war would break out in Cuba and that the United States would have to intervene . . . That war what was behind the sudden midnight announcement by Secretary Hull that the United States was championing no Cuban faction . . . He was preparing for the worst.

Under Fire

J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency, is under heavy fire on the question of opening closed banks . . . One point at which his foes are aiming is the retention of Deputy Commissioner F. G. A. Wait, a Hoover hold-over.

He is supposed to do the work for the inexperienced O'Connor . . . Don Roper's secret maneuvering to bring the permanent NRA organization under his Department of Commerce is encountering heavy sledding . . . General Johnson has a deep-rooted antipathy to established bureaucratic agencies, is insistent that the NRA be continued as an independent institution . . . He is willing, however, to co-ordinate its statistical and conciliatory activities with those of the Commerce and Labor departments . . . The last has not been heard yet to Huey Long's fistic encounter on Long Island . . . The sponsors of the move to award his anonymous assailant a gold Kingfish medal have a spectacular stunt that they plan to spring soon . . . The shortest NRA code so far submitted is that of the American Association of Master Locksmiths . . . It consists of 152 words fixing a 48-hour minimum work week, and a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour.

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

No Love Lost

WASHINGTON—Some of the intentional horizon-scanners with pipe-lines to F. D. R. predict that the United States and Great Britain are in for an era of none too good relations . . . They cite three disturbing factors: 1, War debts, of which Britain probably will not pay more than 10 per cent; 2, Latin America, where a terrific trade war is raging; 3, The Far East, where Sir John Simon is going to do anything except support American policy . . . The Rapid honeymoon is over . . . A. F. H. Wiggins, C. M. G. First Secretary of the British Embassy, is the best golfer in the Diplomatic Corps. While attached to the British Embassy in Rome he entered the national Italian Golf Tournament, and to his great surprise came out the winner.

DEPARTMENT OF THE CIRCLEVILLE HERALD

SEPTEMBER 16, 1933

ISSUED EVERY SATURDAY

"Greetings,"
Students
"SMILES OR TEARS"
YOU MUST GO

The opening of a new school year is a time of either great satisfaction or keen regret. Students either rejoice or are sorry that they must return to school again. Teachers filled with a desire to help boys and girls welcome the opportunity which a new group of students brings. The teacher without this motive of service degrades the opening and each succeeding school day and is cheered only by the prospect of financial remuneration. No matter what the salary may be, the latter is overpaid and the former is underpaid. Those in charge of organization are perplexed by the failure of students and teachers to fit into the organization or feel a keen satisfaction with the attitude of students and teachers.

I can feel nothing but satisfaction with the first week of this year. Every teacher has shown a fine spirit of cooperation in putting into operation a very complex schedule and given close attention to all matters which would make smooth operation certain. Students have followed instructions as given and have manifested a desire to do good work.

We need to nurture this early enthusiasm that it may thrive throughout the year and we may reap the harvest of a year of high accomplishments.

E. I. Gephart, Principal.

"WELCOME"

New pupils, you are welcome here. You'll learn our system, have no fear.

And soon become accustomed to the work we high school students do.

To teachers new in C. H. S., You're feeling strange, or I miss my guess.

But that will shortly pass away— You'll find new friends here, every day.

—Charles Diehlman

Band Rehearses
First School Day

Due to the short interval from now until the opening of the Pumpkin show the Circleville High School band met in the auditorium on Monday, Sept. 11, the first day of school, to rehearse for the big festival.

Mr. C. F. Zaenglein, the director and founder of the band, announces that some members of the Junior band will be promoted to fill vacancies caused by graduation.

The Junior band was organized two years ago for this purpose.

It was decided that practices will be held twice a week on Mondays and Fridays until Pumpkin show, instead of the customary once a week.

Announce New Office Staff

Due to graduation many vacancies in the office staff were made.

The position that is most widely sought is that of aid to Miss Ryan and Mr. Cress in the commercial department. This position is to be filled by Evelyn Roof and Dorothy Bartley. This is a position that offers a great deal of experience in letter writing, dictation, stencil cutting, etc.

In Mr. Daley's office there are also three girls: Margaret Bower, Margie Brown, and Luella Baxter. Those on the staff in Mr. Gephart's office are Betty Brown, Dorothy Bartley, and Margie Merz. These girls attend to getting out tests and other documents.

Class Has 13
Cub Reporters

Among the twenty students in the Journalism class this year are seven who have been in the class before. These are Harry Hosler, Emanuel Hundley, Lyman England, Elizabeth Dowden, George Speakman, Marie Briner, and Loren Carothers.

In addition to these former members of the class there are thirteen beginners. These include James Smith, Charles Diehlman, Virginia Cady, Virginia Cright, Harold Sharpe, Mary Ann Sapp, Jack White, George Rader, James Henderson, William Towers, Junior Sweyer, and Marvane Wallace.

Due to the scarcity of experienced members Charlotte Moore, Horace Gilmore, and George Ammer have volunteered to help with the editions.

Assistance from other students who may be interested will be welcome.

Seniors to Organize

Next Wednesday is the date scheduled by Mr. Gephart for naming of officers by the Senior class.

The officers of this class last year were Bill Gunning, president; Betty Brown, vice-president; Dorothy Bartley, secretary-treasurer; Robert Friece, sergeant-at-arms with Denver Greenlee assistant.

LET'S BEAT LANCASTER!
STUDENTS GREET
NEW TEACHERS

When the students reported at the high school on September 11 they found that the personnel had been changed in several departments.

In the superintendent's office this year is Mr. E. L. Daley. Mr. Daley was formerly Supervisor of grades in the Circleville schools. His work is too well known to need further comment.

Among the new faces seen was that of Miss Eleanor Ryan, a graduate of Circleville high school. Miss Ryan received her training at Ohio State university and at Office Training school in Columbus. She taught for a time in Carey, Ohio.

Mr. Virgil Cress, a graduate of Laurence high school, Michigan, attended Western State college, Kalamazoo, Michigan, and Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio. He has taught in Caldwell, Ohio, and Pleasant City, Ohio.

Mr. Frank Fischer, a third new faculty member, is likewise a graduate of our high school. Mr. Fischer also graduated from Capital university and attended Ohio State university and the University of London. Since his teaching experience at Jackson township where he was superintendent for several years and at Lake Forest academy, Mr. Fischer has been engaged in industrial work in Chicago and Buffalo.

Mr. Cress is the head of the commercial department. Miss Ryan teaches commercial subjects and girls' physical education. Mr. Fischer teaches American history, English III, journalism, and dramatics.

Jane Littleton
Elected New Drum-Major

Jane Littleton, a sophomore and drum major of the Junior band for the last two years, has been elected drum-major of the Circleville High School band.

The election was held in the high school auditorium Friday evening. Those voting included only the members of the band.

STUDENT
CALENDAR

Monday, Sept. 18—Principal E. I. Gephart will explain to the student body in an assembly program some further plans for the current school year relative to the school's clubs and organizations.

Wednesday, Sept. 20—The Seniors will organize and elect their class officers.

Friday, Sept. 22—First football game of the season to be played by C. H. S.'s new team at Lancaster in a night game. As yet it is not certain whether or not the C. H. S. band will play.

From Wednesday, Oct. 4, through Saturday, Oct. 7—The C. H. S. band's largest engagement of the year, that of playing for Pumpkin show.

New Assembly Plan

During the current school year all assembly programs of educational or serious type will be held in the morning while those of the entertaining type are scheduled to be held in the afternoon. Principal E. I. Gephart announces.

25 CANDIDATES
ANSWER CALL

When Coach Herberholz issued the call for football candidates on September 4, he was answered by about twenty-five youths among whom were two new boys.

One of these, Tom Harmon of Pittsburgh, is a candidate for center and being a rugged youth should go far in that direction. He also has had previous experience and that should help. The other whose name is Louis Bagent hails from Columbus and is also a line candidate. He should also make the grade after receiving a bit of varsity experience.

Included in the group are seven of last year's lettermen: Gaines Hill, Kenneth Hill, Billy Steel, George Speakman, Fred Smith, Lee Cook, and Bill Robinson.

Hopes are high that Circleville can put a winning aggregation on the field.

SCHEDULE

Thus far only two games have been scheduled to be played on the home gridiron.

The schedule follows:

September 22—Lancaster, night game, (there)

September 29—Open date

October 6—Bexley (there)

October 13—Open date

October 20—Grandview (here)

October 27—Delaware (there)

November 3—Westerville (there)

November 10—Marysville (here)

Arrangements are being made to fill the open dates which occur on September 29 and October 13.

Circleville will attend because the time of the game is after working hours.

The Lancaster game is an annual affair and is long anticipated by Circleville fans, being the only night game of the season.

This will be the fourth night game Circleville has played with this team, once state champs.

Eighth Period
For Activities

Most important among the changes to be found at school this year is the new use to which the eighth period has been assigned. In the future this last hour of the day will be known as the Activities period. On Monday at this time the seniors will have music. Tuesday while the Freshman girls are having music, the Hi-Y will hold its meeting. The Freshman boys will have music on Wednesday. Thursday Sophomore music day and Girl Reserves' meeting day. Friday is the day for Junior music and Junior Girl Reserves' meetings.

This coming week the E. M. S. and Home Economics club will begin taking names for any prospective members.

All Glee clubs will meet and practice outside school periods.

Record Largest
Enrollment In School History

The largest enrollment in Circleville schools' history was recorded last Monday morning. Last year the enrollment was 1,565. This year it exceeds that by 93.

The high school has a total of 367 pupils. Last year's enrollment was 346.

The Freshman class leads with 106 pupils. The sophomores come next with 100, while the juniors and seniors follow with 84 and 77, respectively.

There are more girls than boys this year in every class except the Junior class. Here the boys exceed the girls by four.

A few more pupils are expected at the beginning of next week.

PRINCIPAL'S TOPIC IS ON "GENESIS"

After reading the first chapters of Genesis at the opening exercises of Circleville high school Monday morning, Principal E. I. Gephart chose as his theme the first three words of the Bible, "In the beginning."

These words Mr. Gephart applied to the beginning of the school year 1933-34. The importance of getting a good start in the work for the year was stressed.

After that the new teachers were introduced to the student body.

Several announcements were then made by Mr. Gephart, after which the students adjourned to their respective session rooms.

New Teacher
Starts Monday

At a meeting of the Board of Education Thursday night Mr. Edward K. Povenmire was named to fill the position of Mr. S. T. Rife, lately resigned.

Mr. Povenmire is a graduate of Ohio State university and spent three years at Yale. He has had three years' teaching experience.

The new faculty member will arrive in Circleville sometime Saturday and begin his new duties Monday.

Miss Reba Lee of this city had been substituting until a successor to Mr. Rife was named.

Musical Try-Outs
to Be Next Week

Next week, in the auditorium, tryouts for accompanists for all high school music classes will be held by Miss Tootle, the music supervisor. All pupils with any knowledge of piano technique are urged to try out.

Miss Tootle is also planning to organize the Glee clubs the first of October. Individual tryouts will be given to determine whether the pupils interested will be eligible to join.

Joint Meeting

This year, contrary to previous custom, the monthly social meeting of the Hi-Y and Girl Reserves will be held together.

SOCIETY

O. S. U. PROFESSORS ARE GUESTS OF MR. BREHMER

Prof. Alex Laurie, head of the horticulture department at Ohio State university, Columbus, and his assistant, Gus Poesch, and Prof. L. C. Chadwick, head of the horticulture department at the university, were guests of Robert Brehmer, N. Court-st., at golf in the afternoon and dinner in the evening at the Pickaway Country club Friday.

MRS. BALES IS CLUB HOSTESS

Members of Mrs. R. R. Bales' bridge club enjoyed a delightful evening of cards at her home on E. Main-st., Friday evening, when they assembled for their weekly party. Guests of the club included Mrs. Howard Moore and Mrs. B. T. Hedges.

Bridge was in play at two tables and after several rounds high score prize was awarded Mrs. Brunelle Parrett Downing. Tempting refreshments served at the small tables brought the pleasant evening to a close.

SEWING CLUB MEETS
WITH MRS. GEARHART

Mrs. W. S. Gearhart, Watt-st., was hostess Friday when members of the Merry-makers sewing club assembled at her home for a pleasant social afternoon.

Twenty members and two guests, Mrs. W. C. Watson, of Pleasantville, and Mrs. Fred Dauenhauer, enjoyed the hours spent in sewing and the delicious refreshments served at their close.

The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. George Hammel, N. Court-st.

THREE U. B. GUILDS
ENJOY PICNIC HERE

The district meeting of the Otterbein Guild of the United Brethren church was held Friday evening at the U. B. Community House in this city, with a picnic supper at seven o'clock.

Approximately forty representatives were present from the three guilds in the district including Chillicothe, Ashville and Circleville.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood, of the local organization, is group leader of the district and was in charge of Friday's meeting.

Following the picnic Miss Marietta Porter, of Ashville, was in charge of several interesting stunts and games which were followed by a camp fire worship service. Songs were sung by the group and a poem was read by Mary Elizabeth Groce, this city. The friendship circle closed the service.

The three guilds will meet again the evening of Oct. 4 at the Community House at which time a covered-dish dinner will be served followed by a program.

BIBLE CLASS ENJOYS
DINNER MEETING FRIDAY

Fifty-eight members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church enjoyed a dinner preceding their monthly meeting Friday evening, when the losers of a membership contest, held in the spring, entertained the winners.

Candles lighted the prettily appointed tables centered with artistically arranged bowls of garden flowers for the dinner at 6:30 o'clock in charge of Mrs. Lester Coate.

Following the dinner hour a business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Edwin Shannon, after which a program was presented.

Mrs. James P. Moffitt rendered two vocal solos, "Pale Moon" and "Song of Songs." She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Constance Himmor.

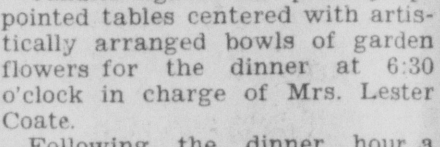

Miss Wilmae Haacker entertained with a character reading, "My Poor Feet," and Hilaire Haacker played several musical instruments. His numbers included a piano and harmonica duet, a chickering harp solo and a harmonica selection.

The next meeting of the class will be held early in November at which time the Westminster Bible class of the Presbyterian church will be a guest.

Variety in Fall Millinery

GROUP NAMED

George Gerhardt, Jackson-twp master farmer, was elected township chairman, and Wayne Hoover and Nelson Baker were named township committeemen to work under the wheat adjustment act at a meeting of over 60 Jackson-twp wheat growers at the Jackson-twp school building Friday evening.

The meeting was very successful with almost a "100 per cent sign-up" according to Guy Dowdy, Pickaway-co wheat administrator, who was in charge of the meeting.

The Jackson-twp committee will hold a meeting at the township house Thursday afternoon to assist wheat growers in filing their applications and furnishing other data relative to the plan of curtailment of wheat acreage.

Mr. Dowdy said Saturday that the last date for filing applications will soon be here and he urges all wheat growers to come to the farm bureau home or go to the township committee to obtain blanks as soon as possible.

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

HAT Mrs. Margaret Arnold, a native of New Holland, who died in August, 1889, was Pickaway-co's oldest product and is said to be the oldest person ever to live in Ohio. Born on July 4, 1777, one year after the Declaration of Independence was signed, Mrs. Arnold lived under the administrations of 23 presidents of the United States, beginning with George Washington and terminating with Benjamin Harrison.

In 1889 when a sketch of her remarkable life appeared in "The Cyclone and Fayette Republican" of Washington C. H., Mrs. Arnold had two sisters and a brother, all of whose ages were more than 100 years. The average age of the family of four was 110 years. At that time it was not believed that any family in the United States, and probably the world, could show a record like this family.

Mrs. Arnold was the only member of her family, natives of Virginia, to remain in Pickaway-co. Preceding her death, she lived with her son, Henry Arnold, in a large brick house, on his 1,400-acre farm, which was located on the New Holland-Waterloo rd., about two miles from the former place. The Fayette and Pickaway-co line divided the farm, 400 acres being in Fayette-co.

Her oldest sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hillard, was living in Lynn-co, Iowa, when the account was written in 1889. She had been twice married and was three years older than Mrs. Arnold, 115 years. The other sister, Mrs. John Bailey, was living in South Dakota at the age of 109 years. All three of the sisters were apparently in good health, despite the advanced ages. William Kiser, the brother, was living on the old home place in Virginia at the age of 104 when the account was written. He never left the scene of his boyhood days, having spent more than a century on the old farm.

The following record shows the ages of the family of four:

Names	Ages
Elizabeth Hillard	115
Margaret Arnold	112
William Bailey	109
William Kiser	104
Total number of years	440
Average age	110

MRS. Arnold, grandmother of Frank Arnold of New Holland and great-grandmother of Mrs. O. L. Ferguson of E. Ohio-st, was born near Richmond, Virginia, July 4, 1777. A daughter of Samuel Kiser, she was one of a family of 12 children. In 1818 she moved to Ohio, locating at Chillicothe, where she later married Frederick Arnold.

Five children, three sons and two daughters, were born of the union, the two youngest sons being twins. Two of the children reached the age of 90 years. Mrs. Arnold's husband died in 1839 and she never remarried. After staying in Chillicothe one winter, Mrs. Arnold located on a farm on Compton creek in Fayette-co, near the Ross-co line, and later settled near Johnson's Crossing. She was engaged for many years in sewing, making men's clothing, and later went to Illinois where she lived 28 years. She again returned to Ohio and lived with her son Henry for nine years, until her death in 1889.

She began smoking tobacco at the age of 32 and continued this practice for 70 years. She discontinued smoking about 10 months before her death. A remarkable feature of her record was that up to her death, she had an excellent appetite and an account in a Fayette-co paper said, "she could eat like a harvest hand." She never lost a meal on account of sickness, the report also says.

Mrs. Arnold was five feet two inches in height and weighed 110 pounds. She performed her last work three years preceding her death when she knit a pair of stockings for her grandson. These stockings were preserved for a number of years as a means of showing the excellent work performed by Mrs. Arnold at the age of 109. She was buried in New Holland cemetery.

COUNTY BOARD RACE NARROWS TO 6 SEEKERS

William I. Spangler Decides to Withdraw From Hot Contest

3 ON EACH SIDE

Tarleton Man Aspires to Congress Seat

Believing the action to be "in the best interest of all concerned," William I. Spangler, Tarleton Democrat, today had announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the board of education of Pickaway-co.

He expects to ask the return of his petition filed with the board of elections last Friday.

The announcement came as a surprise to many of Mr. Spangler's constituents who believed he would be a good candidate for the board of education. He was expected to run a good race.

ASPIRES TO CONGRESS
Mr. Spangler has already announced that he aspires to the seat in Congress now held by Mel G. Underwood, of New Lexington. He will run for the Democratic nomination next year.

Prospect of a hard fight for the three seats available on the board of education also was considered by Mr. Spangler. Many of his friends were of the belief that to run for the county board would be certain to involve him in the contest with the result that his congressional candidacy would be hurt more than helped by his being in the race.

SIX IN CONTEST
His withdrawal leaves the contest this fall with three men on each side. Wayne Hoover, James F. Willis and A. J. Dunkle have lined up on one side of the fence and W. H. Brown, C. E. Meyers and Wayne Brown are on the opposite side.

The names of the former three were presented to the board of elections on the same petition.

POSTMISTRESS TO RESIGN HER JOB

Mrs. S. E. Hosler, Former Resident Here, Quits Office At Kingston.

After serving more than 11 years as postmistress of Kingston, Mrs. S. E. Hosler has presented her resignation to the proper officials at Washington, D. C., to become effective Oct. 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year.

Mrs. Hosler has been postmistress since 1922, being appointed by the late President Harding. She was re-appointed by the late President Calvin Coolidge and by President Hoover. Her present term does not expire until April 28, 1934, but owing to ill health she is not able to continue in office.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosler plan to remove to this city, their former home, in the near future.

NELSON FREEMAN, 81 DIES IN HALLSVILLE

Nelson Freeman, 81, died Friday at 1:20 p. m. at his home in Hallsville following an eight weeks' illness of heart disease.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosetta Freeman and five children, Mrs. Leota Valentine of near Stoutsville; Mrs. Altha Smith of near Lancaster; Walter Freeman of near Lancaster; Guy Freeman of near Lancaster; and Herbert Freeman of Laurelville. Twenty two grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Hallsville M. E. church with Rev. Dear of Adelphi officiating. Burial will be in the Hallsville cemetery by H. E. Defenbaugh of Tarleton.

DETERMINED LEGISLATURE TO CONTINUE UNTIL FUND FOR SCHOOLS IS OBTAINED

Votes to Remain on Job; Three Tax Sources are Studied

UTILITIES OBJECT

Entirely New Tax Set-Up is Planned

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16.—Adamant in its determination not to quit work without raising money for state-aid schools, the strident legislature today appeared likely to levy new taxes on public utility corporations, chain stores or liquors—and possibly all three—when it returns here next week.

The strong rural bloc in the house of representatives flatly rejected a move for immediate adjournment yesterday, following the crushing defeat of the sales tax the day before, with a demand that "We must do something to keep the schools open."

Prediction was voiced generally among legislators that $3,000,000—sufficient to care for the weak school districts until Jan. 1, 1934—will be voted next week.

REST OVER SUNDAY
The house will return Monday night and the senate will reconvene Tuesday night. The special taxation committee also took a week-end rest, without scheduling any meetings until Monday.

Believing their golden opportunity has arrived, leaders of the "back the utilities" movement will concentrate next week on the Haynes bill proposing to levy a 3 per cent tax on gross receipts of gas, telephone and electric companies with annual earnings of more than $50,000.

Senator W. P. Haynes (D), of Coshocton, author of the measure, sees the prospect of enactment of his bill, after many rebuffs. Amendments reducing the tax to 1.85 per cent may be made.

Lobbyists for the utility companies protest they cannot endure such a tax and will fight against having the bill recommended out by the special taxation committee. However, Senator Daniel J. Gurnett (D) of Van Wert, chairman of the

Ford to Employ 5,000 War Vets

Believe Magnate To Conform To NRA Without Signing Pledge.

DETROIT, Sept. 16.—Although Ford officials continued today to deny that the hiring of 5,000 World War veterans is in any way connected with the NRA, the opinion continued prevalent here that it is part of Henry Ford's supposed plans to conform with the spirit of the motor code while remaining technically outside it.

Announcement was made late yesterday by Rex Humphrey, Wayne-co American Legion commander, that Ford would hire 5,000 veterans for "expansion of production," the additional workers will bring Ford payrolls in the Detroit area to the 50,000 point, it was said.

A good war record and an honorable discharge will be required in all applicants for the jobs, Humphrey said.

Despite the denials it was pointed out that Ford if he intends to meet or even approximate the hour provisions of the auto code probably will need a heavy addition to his payroll. Observers felt that the auto magnate by hiring the war veterans, was killing two birds with one stone—enlarging his staff and building up public sympathy which will be his only defense if Washington ever decides to use the "big stick" in the NRA matter.

SCHOOL ENTERED

Bryce Connell, superintendent of the Darby-twp school at Derby, reported to the sheriff's office Friday that someone entered the school building this week and stole two planes and two saws from the manual arts department. The trade names of the articles are unknown.

The Joseph Clothing Store robbery still remained a mystery Saturday with local police and the sheriff's department working to establish a clue. Sheriff Charles Radcliff sent out 250 circulars to police chiefs and sheriffs throughout Ohio and to other larger cities in other states giving a description of the goods taken.

The Red and Black, Circleville high school's weekly paper, is being published today for the first time in the new school year.

The publication is under the supervision of Frank Fischer, high school English and journalism instructor.

MANY PLANES HUNT AIRMAN

Al Nehf, Airmail Pilot, Missing On Flight From Toledo To Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—A fleet of 12 airplanes took off from Cleveland airport today to search for Al Nehf, air mail pilot, who is several hours overdue on his regular run from Toledo to this city.

All coast guard craft between Toledo and Cleveland also were pressed into the hunt in the belief that the crack pilot may have been forced down into Lake Erie waters.

Nehf, 25 years of age, had been due at the local airport at 3 a. m. but as yet has failed to report. Maj. John Henry, airport superintendent, declared that the mail pilot was last reported flying between Sandusky and Vickery, O., eastward bound.

The airman was piloting a small, open cockpit, single motorized plane, numbered NC4-15. The tiny ship was used instead of the regular tri-motored craft because of poor visibility when Nehf left Toledo.

The plane carried no radio and officials expressed a hope that Nehf had been forced down in a location where he could not report to the airport.

CCC BOYS TO COME HOME ON FURLOUGH

Kenneth Henn Writes About 65 Have Re-signed; Plan to Leave West About Sept. 20

Hoping to get home in time for Pumpkin Show, Pickaway-co's members of the Civilian Conservation Corps were preparing to leave their camp in the Sequoia National forest, California, about Sept. 20, according to word received from Kenneth Henn, member of that corps.

Henn says: "They just put a bulletin on the board announcing that we are leaving California about the 20th. There are supposed to be 134 boys from this camp leaving. I believe about 65 of the boys here (including Pickaway-co youths) have signed up for another six months."

Mrs. Nellie Alkire, of Five Points, was admitted to the hospital Friday evening for observation.

Mrs. W. L. Funk Pickaway and Witt-sts, who has been at the hospital for treatment, was returned home Friday.

Squirrels Laud F. D. R. For NRA; Hunters Are Fewer

"Hooray for President Roosevelt!"

It was Br'er Squirrel perched safely and complacently in a tree not far from Fox Post office, Way out there where shotgun bullets fly as thick as Blue Eagles do in the Circleville business district.

"Yeah, and hurray for General Johnson!"

This time it was another squirrel, this one stalking stealthily across a small open patch.

First day of squirrel hunting season and not so many hunters out. Not so many shots as last year. Not so many fatalities for the squirrel vital statistics.

"There's only one explanation," continued Br'er Squirrel philosophically. "It's the president who's responsible for the dearth of those guys who want to kill us."

"You're right," came the answer from his more timorous companion.

Two County Schools Have Failed To Report Enrollment Figures.

WALNUT IS LEADER

Grades Have Nearly 3,000 of Number.

More than 4,000 pupils, boys and girls, are attending school in Pickaway-co, exclusive of Circleville, according to figures announced Saturday by D. L. Buchanan, superintendent.

Only two schools, Scioto-twp and Tarleton, have not reported their totals. Exclusive of these two there are 3,820 enrolled, 2,795 in the grades and 1,025 in the high schools.

Three of the schools are operating under the junior high school plan which makes more high school students listed. This system makes six grades and six high school classes.

A survey of the figures shows that Monroe-twp high school is the largest in the county but it is operating under the junior high plan. There are 146 pupils listed. Walnut-twp operating as a four year high school is in reality the largest with an enrollment of 143, according to Supt. Ray Spangler's figures.

WALNUT LARGEST
Walnut-twp also has the largest grade school with the present enrollment of 301.

Following is the tabulation without figures from Scioto-twp and Tarleton:

Darby: 193 elementary, 76 high;
Deercreek: 269 elementary, 72 high;
Duvall: 105 elementary;
Jackson: 198 elementary, 60 high;
Madison: 131 elementary;
Monroe: 247 elementary, 146 high (6-6 plan);
Muhlenberg: 137 elementary, 37 high;
Perry: 95 elementary, 82 high (6-6 plan);
Pickaway: 215 elementary, 69 high;
Salt creek: 137 elementary, 65 high;
Walnut: 301 elementary, 143 high.

Washington: 134 elementary, 72 high (6-6 plan);
Wayne: 122 elementary;
Ashville: 230 elementary, 129 high;
New Holland: 227 elementary, 74 high;
South Bloomfield: 64 elementary.

JURORS TO REPORT
Petit jurors are to report in common pleas court at 9 a. m. Monday when the damage suit cases of Clarence T. and Lulu Dowden, of Columbus, against the Board of Trustees of Wayne-twp, will be started.

The Dowdens seek approximately $1,000 as a result of an auto wreck on the Westfall rd. last November when the car in which they were riding struck a culvert and turned over. They claim the trustees were negligent in not maintaining a warning signal near the culvert.

Frank S. Monnett, of Columbus, is attorney for the plaintiffs and Ray W. Davis, prosecuting attorney, will represent the trustees.

CRIST APPOINTED

Emmitt L. Crist, Esq., was appointed receiver in the case of Louise Barror, of Harrison-twp, against Dale Seeds and others. He will collect rents from the farm and perform other duties. He succeeded Mr. Terrell who resigned the receivership after he failed to qualify.

MILK PRICE IS AGREED UPON

Producers, Distributors Get Together Working Out Fair Solution.

A fair price to be paid milk producers by distributors was agreed upon at a meeting of Pickaway-co milk men at the farm bureau home, E. Main-st, Friday evening.

Eighteen producers, led by Clarence Ater, Circleville-twp, met with Ward W. Robinson, S. Pickaway-twp distributor. The price was not made public although it is said to be satisfactory to both the producers and Mr. Robinson.

The committee appointed several weeks ago to draw up a code to present to the Ohio Milk Marketing Commission for its approval or rejection is expected to complete its work sometime next week. The committee includes Mr. Robinson, distributor; Mr. Ater, producer; and Charles Walters, Circleville-twp, producer-distributor.

Unlike a meeting of several nights ago, Friday evening's meet was harmonious throughout, it was said.

LAMSON CASE NEARING JURY

Prosecution, Defense Storm Jury With Pleas In Standford Case.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 16.—Out of the insupportable silence of death Allene Lamson, "to send David Lamson forth a free man, purged of the dread of the false charge that he murdered Allene on memorial day in their Stanford campus home."

"I call upon you in the name of Allene Lamson," the defense has implored the jury, "to send David Lamson forth a free man, purged of the dread of the false charge that he murdered Allene on memorial day in their Stanford campus home."

"I call upon you in the name of Allene Lamson," the defense has implored the jury, "to send David Lamson forth a free man, purged of the dread of the false charge that he murdered Allene on memorial day in their Stanford campus home."

And today as yesterday, while prosecuting attorney Allan Lindsay closes the case of the people versus Lamson, a strange picture will hang upon the wall.

A picture of the bathroom in the Lamson home, a picture enlarged to almost life size proportions. Over the edge of the tub, face downward, the lifeless head of Allene Lamson, one braid of hair across her face, her arms, rigid in death, hanging over the tub, her hands, palms upward, touching the blood soaked floor.

The jury of five women and seven men are not going to be allowed to shut their eyes, for one moment to that picture. The prosecution thunders not by accident, but by brutal murder was the lovely Allene done to death. David Lamson killed her on the floor of the bathroom by hitting her on the head with a blunt instrument, and then put her in the tub and pretended to "find" her there.

Murder or accident which do they believe. This jury that listens so attentively?

NEW DRUM MAJOR!

Jane Littleton Elected By Band Members; Has Been Junior Leader.

Circleville high school band members met Friday afternoon and elected Miss Jane Littleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Littleton, drum major to fill the vacancy left by Robert Wilson, a member of last year's graduating class.

Miss Littleton who has been drum major of the junior band is a sophomore.

She received 22 out of 39 votes cast, the others going to her only opponent Paul Davis. The new drum major will make her first appearance at the head of the high school band during Pumpkin Show week, Oct. 4, 5, 6 and 7 for which the band is now rehearsing.

A new drum major for the junior band is yet to be selected.

32 Lives Lost as Storm Hits Mexico

By International News Service

A tropical hurricane, the third to batter the Eastern seaboard within a month, lashed the coast from the Virginia capes to northern New England today, leaving death and destruction in its wake.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Caught in the tropical hurricane lashing the eastern seaboard, the British steamer New Mexico sent out distress calls today, according to the radiomarine corporation.

The vessel gave her position as off the fourteen foot lead light, believed to be near the Virginia Capes. The U. S. S. Mahania is proceeding to her rescue.

The New Mexico is a 6,000-ton vessel, 412 feet in length, and with a beam of 35 feet. She is owned by the British Mail Line of Great Britain.

at least two persons, demolishing homes, inundating towns and cutting two municipalities off from communication with the world.

The full force of the storm was not expected to be felt until late afternoon. But the early morning hours found Norfolk's lower business section under two feet of water.

HOMES SWEEP AWAY

Two houses on Willoughby Split, six miles from Norfolk, were swept away as wind and rain turned Chesapeake bay into a maelstrom.

Morehead City and Beaufort, N. C., were cut off from communication by the storm. Points along the New Jersey coast reported mountainous seas and high winds. The highest tides on record isolated the town of New Bern, N. C. with six feet of water in the streets, the town broadcast an appeal for Red Cross assistance.

Mariners heeded full storm warnings displayed along the coast and hugged harbors or the shore, but the huge waves battering the coast menaced shore property and shipping. New Yorkers, sodden from 48 hours of steady rain, were warned to expect a "heavy" downpour over the weekend.

Cape Henry coast guard officials reported shortly before that the barometer reading at Cape Hatteras at 28.26, and almost unprecedented.

If you were asked—What is the greatest need of our country today, what would be your answer? We are confronted by many problems. Strenuous efforts are being made to solve some of them. But would we be in the mess we are in if certain fundamental laws of right and justice had been observed? If we had obeyed God's laws, had, for instance, loved our fellowmen as ourselves instead of seeing how much we could do to the other fellow? That there has been a breakdown in character needs no argument. Until we recover ourselves in plain honesty and integrity, all our efforts for prosperity will profit us nothing. Not all our criminals are associated with the gangsters, some are moving in high circles. The pity is they can find ways of "escaping punishment. If we are to recover ourselves in character we must have in our schools as well as in our churches, to emphasize our individual responsibility to a just and holy God. Go to church to know how to help your help as a true patriot. Take a friend.

THE OLD FASHIONED SUNDAY

A prominent layman has said: "Sooner or later the world may be brought to realize that the old-fashioned Sunday was not a mere rustic survival from early Calvinism or a tribal rite of the ancient Hebrews, but was a social check valve developed by centuries of human experience, and that a nervous, high strung society which has suddenly abolished it, will rue its loss. The old fashioned Sunday, in short, was one of nature's regulators, checking the tempo of life and readjusting it every seven days. It did for a very large part of the civilized world exactly what every physician and modern psychologist would be eager to do if he could. It forced whole communities of men, women and children to come once a week to a complete halt and for a space of twenty-four hours after entirely their physical, mental and social habits."

HOW MAY A TEACHER PROPERLY GUIDE A CLASS WHEN FOLLOWING THE DISCUSSION METHOD OF TEACHING?

There are some evident steps that must be followed to make a success of this method of teaching. First set the stage; be certain that the members of the class are interested and ready to engage in a discussion. This may be done by permitting the pupils to suggest and share in choosing questions to be considered. Or the teacher may present a challenging question, report an experience, or set up an imaginary life situation, all of which will provoke such an interest as to naturally engage in discussion.

Second, state and analyze the problem. Make sure the pupils clearly understand the content of the question. A blackboard may be helpful in presenting the major questions.

Third, canvas sources of information help; suggest sources for research work by the pupils. Help the pupils to distinguish between reliable and unreliable information. Be ready to make summaries and outlines of facts and information gathered; sometimes one of the pupils may do this. Finally, discover and state the solution. Stimulate the pupils to suggest possible principles of solution and then evaluate them. Refrain from stating the solution yourself.

All are needed by each one; nothing is fair of good alone.

Lesson for September 17

SOLOMON

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 8:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT—Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto him, and bless his name. Psalm 100:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—In God's House.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A King Worshipping God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Learning to Worship God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value of a House of Worship.

1. Solomon Anointed King (1 Kings 1:3-40).

The divine choice as to David's successor had not been known (v. 20). David is stirred to action by the combined appeals of Bathsheba and Nathan. At David's command the faithful three, Zadok, Nathan, and Benaiah, speedily anointed Solomon king.

II. Solomon's Acts to Establish His Kingdom (1 Kings, 1:41-2:46).

He noted certain dangerous elements which if allowed to develop would weaken, if not destroy, his rule.

1. Adonijah placed under surveillance (vv. 41-53). Placing him on good behavior displayed both clemency and dignity on the part of Solomon. Adonijah fled to the altar, not to worship God, but to save his life. His repentance was not real. Solomon ordered his execution (2:13-25).

2. Abiathar removed from the priesthood (2:26, 27). He had joined Adonijah in his plot of usurpation.

3. Joab executed (2:28-35). Joab was a party to Adonijah's rebellion. Besides this, he had treacherously murdered his rivals in the army.

34. Shimei executed (2:36-46). Solomon first paroled him and confined him to Jerusalem, but when he broke his parole, had him executed.

III. The Divine Favor Upon Solomon (1 Kings 3:1-14).

1. God's gracious offer (vv. 4, 5). Solomon made a lavish sacrifice, showing that he had strong impulses toward the Lord. This was followed by the Lord's gracious offer.

2. Solomon's wise choice (vv. 6-9). He was keenly sensible of the difficulty and of the responsibility of his position.

3. God's unstinted gift to Solomon (vv. 10-14). Because Solomon appeared before the Lord in the proper attitude, God gave him more than he asked for.

IV. Solomon Building the Temple (1 Kings 5:1-8:56).

1. Preparation (5:1-18). He secured from King Hiram:

a. Wood for beams, ceilings, etc.

b. Stones for the great foundation. These were all to be so shaped that there was to be no sound of the hammer while the temple was being erected.

c. Skilled workmen.

2. The erection of the temple (6:1-38).

a. Located on Mt. Moriah (II Chron. 3:1).

b. Dimensions: Ninety feet long; thirty feet wide; forty-five feet high—this on the assumption that the eubit was eighteen inches in length.

c. Its contents.

(1) The brazen altar. (2) The laver. (3) The golden candlesticks. (4) The cherubim.

3. The dedication of the temple (8:1-66). The dedicatory services consisted of:

a. Bringing up the ark (vv. 1-11). The ark was typical of Jesus Christ. God dwells among his people through Jesus Christ (John 1:14).

b. Solomon's address to the people (vv. 12-21). He pointed out to them that God had chosen David to be king, yet did not allow him to build the temple, but promised that his son should complete the work.

c. Solomon's dedicatory prayer (vv. 22-53). In his prayer, Solomon gratefully acknowledged God's goodness in the past, and pleaded that the promises made to his father should be verified. He asked that God's eyes might be continually open toward the temple, so that:

(1) In case of contention he would be their judge (vv. 31, 32).

(2) If smitten by the enemy, even though they had sinned, God would forgive and restore (vv. 33, 34).

(3) In famine, upon confession, God would forgive and send rain (vv. 35, 36).

(4) In pestilence and sickness, God would hear and forgive (vv. 37, 40).

(5) In case of the coming of the foreigner, because of the news of God's favor toward Jerusalem, his prayer should be heard (vv. 41-43).

(6) In going out to battle, their cause should be maintained (vv. 44, 45).

(7) If taken captive, God would hear their prayers and restore them (vv. 46-53).

d. Solomon blesses the people (vv. 54-61).

e. Solomon offering sacrifices of thanksgiving (vv. 62-66).

City officials have ordered Kagawa's Christian film "A Grain of Barley" shown in every primary school of Tokyo, Japan.

The New England Fellowship present an annual award of consequence to a New England pastor receiving two thousand dollars or less in recognition of the excellence of his work in the church and the community. By unanimous vote the award was given to the Rev. Kenneth Cassen, of Lubec, Maine, who serves the two Baptist churches, one Methodist and one Christian-Congregational church in the community. As part of the award, the Rev. and Mrs. Cassen will be given a trip to the Century of Progress, in Chicago.

A total of 2,582,000 students will begin the 1933-34 scholastic year in 16,594 Catholic institutions of learning in this country, according to an estimate just made by the Department of Education of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Plans have been inaugurated in the Chicago diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church for the raising of money by soliciting each communicant to give a thankoffering of one cent each after each meal. This means three cents per day or eleven dollars per year. This offering will be known as the Bishop's Pence. A penny bank or container will be sent to every family in the diocese.

The World Fellowship of Faiths have held a series of meetings at the Morrison Hotel, Chicago, beginning Aug. 21, and concluding tomorrow. Several hundred outstanding leaders representing more than one hundred creeds discussed for several days the great issues of war, race relations, internationalism, and economic welfare. The list of delegates has included the names of many of the greatest religious and philanthropic leaders of the world, a fact promising much for greater racial and religious understanding.

Smallest Weasel

The smallest weasel in some localities is called "mouse-hunter." Its scientific label is Mustela erminea. It measures only six inches from snout to root of tail. The tail is hardly an inch long, and has a white tip—a distinction alone among weasels. Its summer coat is glossy reddish brown above, and white below from chin to vent, and the feet are white.

Flow ahead as a steamer does, rough or smooth, rain or shine.

To carry your cargo, making your port is the point.

Well done is twice done.

What was the wisest choice? Solomon ever made? Why was it the wisest?

How can we write the commandments of God on our hearts? How is the presence of God manifest today?

What is the relation of the glory of God to the good of man?

What are the evidences that the worship of God is on the increase?

What can be done in our churches to promote a greater reverence for God's house?

Clericus says, "In vain we build the costliest churches and display on beautiful pulpits elegantly bound Bibles; if we do not write the Commandments of the Lord in our hearts and keep them in our lives."

Lesson Prayer: "Help us to put the proper emphasis upon public worship and so relate ourselves to it that there may result an increased reverence for God's house and an increased devotion to God."

Dean, Blades Aid Red Birds in Second Win

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16.—The Columbus Red Birds were one up today on the Minneapolis Millers in their play-off series for the American Association championship.

RED SCORE

THREE THREE	AB	R	H	P	O	A	E
Minneapolis	4	0	2	2	4	0
Cohen, 2b	4	0	2	2	4	0
Rubie, rf	3	0	0	3	0	1
Hauser, 1b	3	1	1	1	1	0
Harris, cf	3	0	0	5	1	0
Holland, lf	4	0	1	1	0	0
Ganzel, c	4	0	0	0	1	0
Norris, ss	4	1	2	0	3	1
Glenn, p	0	0	0	3	1	0
Murray, p	3	0	0	1	2	0
Totals	32	2	6	26	13	2

Paul Dean, who gave an airtight pitching exhibition, and Ray Blades, whose single won the game, led the Birds to a 3 to 2 victory over the Millers. The Birds won the series opener several days previously, and Minneapolis took the second game.

The two teams were to entrain today for Minneapolis, where they will meet tomorrow afternoon in the fourth game of the series.

Dean was taken out for Andy High, pinch batter, in the eighth after holding the visitors scoreless from the second inning on. In the first Hauser, the home run champ of the association, tapped out a four-bagger and Norris duplicated the feat in the next frame. Murray pitched a good game for Minneapolis.

Oils Banqueted By Nickerson

Glenn Nickerson, backer of the Circleville Oil recreation ball team won the only officially played game of the championship series with the Wallis Sluggers, banqueting his team, league umpires and several friends of the team Friday evening at the Pickaway Country club.

The banquet was served by Ralph Barger, club steward, at 7 p. m.

After the repast Mr. Nickerson as a note of appreciation to Dorcy Courtwright who organized the league and managed the Oils presented him with a trophy.

An evening of cards followed the banquet.

Those who enjoyed the evening were Dick Robinson, Carl Purcell, Art Steele, Ewe Merriman, Melvin Mettler, Glen Geib, Jack Hetter, Boyce Parks, Eddie Watson, and Paul Wallace, members of the team; Julius Gordon, Cum Robinson, Max Friedman, Ab Reid, James Trimmer, William Carter, William Heeter and Mr. Nickerson.

The Oils will play a Lancaster team in that city Sunday afternoon.

South Hi Gleans 12-6 Victory

Marysville's Central Buckeye league entry put up an awful battle Friday evening against an enormous Columbus South Hi team losing by the narrow margin of one touchdown. South counted 12 points, Marysville 6.

Coach Jerry Kingsmore's boys led 6-0 at the half with Coach Chick Pearce of South tearing his hair at the offense his team displayed. The Columbusites came out for blood in the second half scoring once in each period.

Marysville scored with Bailey, an end, covered a South fumble on the South 30 yard mark. Otto, playing fullback, tossed the oval to Bailey for the touchdown.

Daily Drama

By International News Service

The hero—Herman Bell, New York. Took over for Parmelee in the third inning with bases filled but retired the side and kept Chicago scoreless, the Giants winning 4 to 0 and practically clinching the National league pennant.

The goat—Bill Hallahan, Cardinals. Allowed six hits in three innings, walked one man and made an error, finally being chased out, Brooklyn going on to humble St. Louis, 9 to 2.

King Football is getting ready to make his 1933 season, and all over the country grid hopefuls are spending every waking moment preparing for their big chance. Here is William Clark, of Amesbury, Mass., halfback for Dartmouth, in action during training at Hanover, N. H. He almost needed wings to spear this high one.

Spartans Face Cincinnati

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 16.—Excitement and determination now reign in the football camp of the Portsmouth Spartans as the team's 19-0 win over the Indianapolis Indians Wednesday night only whetted their appetite for further tastes of delicious victory meat and as a result the Purple Warriors are hungrily facing the Cincinnati Reds whom they battle Sunday, September 17, at Universal Stadium. The game will be called at 3 p. m.

ASHVILLE 11 LOSES, 26-0

Bremen Too Tough; Promising Halfback, Hurt, Is Lost For Season.

A green but determined Asheville high school football team was defeated 26 to 0 Friday afternoon at the hands of a fast and hard-driving Bremen eleven. The game was played in the Fairfield-co town.

Coach Al Kauber although losing victory as well as any one was not downhearted over the defeat but praised his boys for their refusal to give up in the face of heavier and more-experienced opposition.

A sad blow was dealt to Asheville's hopes for the season when Warren Steinhook, halfback who entered the Asheville school from Greenfield, suffered a fractured collar-bone in the first five minutes of play. He will be out for the season.

Bremen scored two touchdowns in the first period and one in each of the second and third. Asheville did not threaten the Bremen goal line although scoring eight first downs.

The play of Wean in the backfield was outstanding and that of Morrison, Miller and McGlone in the line was excellent.

The Asheville starting lineup was Ward and Young, ends; Morrison and Williams, tackles; McGlone and Wells, guards with Myers and Miller also playing guard; H. Steinhook, center; Soles, quarterback; W. Steinhook, replacing Steinhook, and Baker at fullback.

The team goes to Grove City next Friday.

DUNLAP FACES MAX MARSTON

Youth Against Age In Finals of National Amateur Tourney.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—This most grotesque of all National Amateur golf championships will come to an altogether fitting close today with a Mutt and Jeff round of 36 holes while destiny is flouted and reason totters on its throne.

Mr. Max (Bee Bee) Marston, an aloof, astere character, is Mutt for purposes of this story and little Jeff is George Dunlap, Jr., who though seventeen years younger than his adversary really ought to do something about a first class tonic as carelessness triumphs and hairlessness has its way.

They are all that are left of an original field of 153 golfers, including Ross Somerville, the 1932 champion; Johnny Goodman, the open champion and Johnny Fletcher, the champion medalist. But fate works in a mysterious way, its wonders to perform and so, instead of the great golfers of the form, we have two men playing for the title who almost didn't qualify at all.

In other ways, too, the final is slightly eccentric in its aspects. Marston is 41 and weighs 210 pounds, the whippet, Dunlap, weighs about 135 and is almost young enough to go to Hill school with Marston's son, who is a classmate of the youth who Harston beat in the semi-finals yesterday.

KINGSTON

The Ladies' Aid society of Bethel M. E. church met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lewis Bower with Miss Minnie Bower, Mrs. Ed Deen and daughter, Miss Helen Deen, assisting hostesses.

During the business session the society voted to pay twenty-five dollars to pastor's salary. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. H. E. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Goth, of Chillicothe, spent Sunday with Miss Ada Goth.

Warren Black, who has been on the sick list is somewhat improved at this writing.

CROPS TO REPL WHEAT ARE LISTED

Eight different methods of handling the acres taken from wheat production under the terms of wheat adjustment contracts have been announced as "approved practices" by Chester C. Davis, director of the production section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The approved practices are in accord with the provisions of the wheat contract that, "The contracted acreage of 1934 shall not be used for the production of any nationally produced agricultural product for sale..." They are based upon the suggestion of the College of Agriculture of the Ohio State University and have been approved by the Adjustment Administration.

A farmer may plant his contracted acres to permanent pasture or to meadow, but land so planted is not eligible to be counted as contracted acreage during the second season, if used for pasture or if a hay crop is harvested. However, if used for hay or pasture other acres may be substituted for the contracted acreage next fall in order then to conform to the terms of the contract.

Erosion-preventing and soil improvement crops are placed upon soil improvement crops that are planted for the purposes of pasturing workstock or for plowing under as a green-manure crop. For these purposes clovers, rye, vetch, or other legumes are used.

Soy bean hay and other short-seasoned hay crops are permitted if fed to workstock or if they stock for producing products only for consumption on the farm, or to be plowed under for soil improvement.

Winter wheat planted in the spring as a nurse crop is allowed. Winter wheat or other grain also may be seeded in the spring as a nurse crop if clipped in the spring and not permitted to mature. In this case the intention must be reported to the county adjustment committee and an agreement made not to harvest the wheat or other grain crop so used for hay.

YODER BILL READY

The Yoder bill to tax prescription liquors $2 a gallon already has been recommended, and the chain store bill, providing a tax of $3 to $25 per store, is expected to win its way out, having lacked only one vote when a bill was made.

Although Governor George White asked the assembly to raise $8,700,000 for schools for the year and next, the present trend is to be satisfied with the raising of enough to carry out provisions of the Gunsett school-financing bill which calls for expending $1,000,000 for the remainder of 1933, and says nothing about 1934.

"I won't quibble about that," Governor White said when informed of that plan. The Gunsett has not yet passed the House.

The legislature would draw up a permanent new tax program following the No. 7 election when the state is expected to adopt a constitutional amendment lowering the real estate tax limit from 15 mills to 10 mills. There on legal liquor are suggested as available sources.

Governor White vetoed a bill totaling $25,000 for House expenses in a message read prior to the week-end recess. The governor said sufficient "unexpended balances" were available to meet expenses of $3,300 for the House and $15,900 for the Senate, which he allowed to stand in veto.

ANSWERS, QUERIES CONCERNING NRA

Q. Reports from various NRA boards report that barbers say they "are being forced to raise prices" by their local associations "in order to remain in business."

A. There is nothing in the President's Reemployers to subscribe to local agreements regarding price fixing. Until barbers come under the general barbers' code they may continue with old prices, provided there is no violation of paragraph 9 of NRA "to refrain from taking profiteering advantage of the public" and "in setting price increases to give full weight to probable increases in sales volume."

Q. I am a laundryman. We were closed down on Labor Day and now are working employees 9 hours per day to make up lost time, but shall not work more than 45 hours per week. Does this violate the approved laundry substitution?

A. Yes. Employees are not to be worked on legal holidays.

Q. Can a chamber of commerce approve a petition for a stay when a permanent code has been approved?

A. No.

Q. Must students working in a barber college and serving the public as part of their training be paid the minimum wage?

A. Yes; if that custom was followed prior to June 15, date of approval, of NRA, on educational basis but not otherwise.

ROCHESTER WINS FROM NEWARK 9

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Rochester's Red Wings were one up today on Newark's Bears in the International league playoffs. The Red Birds won the third game of the series last night, 5 to 3.

A seventh inning rally developed three runs and gave Rochester its victory.

If the Red Wings take this afternoon's game they will gain the right to engage Buffalo in the final playoff, the winner of which will represent the International association winner in the little world's series.

The Beautiful Bluebird

The bluebird is seven inches long, with upper parts, wings and tail a bright blue; throat, breast, and sides are cinnamon red, underneath white. The song is "treally-tru-ally." The nest is made largely of dry leaves. Four or six eggs, a pale greenish blue, are laid in each brood and two or three broods are raised in a season between March and November.

China Looks Ahead

WHATEVER may be said about the military weakness of the present Chinese government, credit must be given it for constructive domestic measures that, if successful, eventually will make for a stronger and greater China in every field.

Several public improvement projects already have been launched, but the most important yet undertaken has just been announced. From the north China coast to the farthest west province, a distance of 2,000 miles, a highway and railroad are to be built. Sinkiang province, in which the roads will terminate, border on Soviet Russia.

The cost of the undertaking is placed by the government at 50,000,000 gold dollars. The project will give employment to thousands of workers. More important will be its effects, when completed, on the industrial, commercial and social life of the great sprawling nation. Among the advantages will be opening of northwest China to colonization and economic development, with the prospect that the frequently-occurring famines in this district will be ended. Another result will be to bring the trade of central Asia to the Pacific.

Eight months will be required for the initial surveys, which will begin October 1 under direction of Sven Hedin, famous Swedish explorer. The projected roads will bring far-flung sections of China into intimate contact and thus help in the creation of a national spirit which should go far in removing the causes of civil warfare, an evil which continues to afflict the republic.

The government apparently recognizes that China must become strong economically before it can hope to attain the position and influence of a world power. In playing its feet on this road, the government is showing a vision that has been lacking in former governments. Its progress will be watched with interest by the world.

If President Roosevelt will formulate and enforce a fair practice code for Tammany, he will be acclaimed by millions of New Yorkers.

A Record Flight

THE navy has chalked up a mark in the field of practical aviation that deserves more than mere passing notice.

From Norfolk, Va., to Coco Solo, Canal Zone, a distance of 2,059 miles, it sent six seaplanes in a non-stop flight. It was the longest non-stop mass formation flight ever made by any nation.

Five of the planes completed the hop in 24 hours and 55 minutes. The sixth, slowed down by engine trouble, arrived about an hour later.

Each of the credit for the achievement goes to Lieutenant Commander D. M. Carpenter, flight commander. Under the skill of the individual pilots, however, depended in a large measure the success of the undertaking.

It is such flights as this that count in judging the practical progress made by aviation. The planes evidently were on a routine mission to the Canal Zone. The flight was a no-stunt, a stunt. The flyers wanted to reach their destination as quickly as possible, and held to their course once they were in the air.

The success of the flight helps to demonstrate how quickly military aid could reach the canal in the event of serious trouble in that section. It also goes to show that the aviation section of the navy is operated by capable flyers. The country ought to be proud of the latest feat.

CHAPTER XXXIII

"You've changed since you went North," Mr. Keyes went on, not unkindly. "I don't know why. Is it a girl?"

Bill didn't answer. "Because if it is, you're taking it all wrong. If she's worth having, take her, take a chance like I did. Work for her. And if it's money she's wanting, if it's the lack of it that's making her hold out, then let her go, boy. She's not worth the thought."

"If that's all you've got to say to me—" Bill burst out hotly. He couldn't bear this talk. He got up and moved toward the door.

"So it is a girl... well, think it over. And I'll thank you not to be leading my son out to help you drown your sorrows, young man."

"Rollo's old enough—"

"You're a couple of young fools. Especially you, flapping up at me when I speak for your good. Go back to the oil fields, you were doing fine down there, and you and Rollo only get in each other's way in the business office. Go back in the morning. Now will you do that? And no hard feeling, just begin again, and work hard. Let the old man be proud of you yet. Will you do that?"

Bill took the big hairy hand outstretched to him. "All right, I'll be off in the morning. And—thanks—"

It took him a long time to pack. What a chance he had had... what a chance... in a way it wasn't fair to the old man to quit, and in another way it wasn't fair to stay. It wouldn't be any use going back now, trying to work again. He had never really cared about the work, it was just because it was for Joan, and now that Joan was lost to him—

When he woke Rollo to say goodbye some four hours later, he was wearing the old suit he had worn when he came. "What's the idea?" Rollo yawned. "Look like a tramp."

Bill laughed. "I sent young Martin back to Bakersfield. After his talk with Bill he felt better. Rollo might be weak, but he couldn't be altogether a fool, his son and Kate's."

"But he won't stay long," Rollo grinned. "I notice he only took one suitcase."

"He'd better!" the old man snapped.

"You can't keep off Bill away from the bright lights. He'll be back!"

Bill never came back. Neither did he return to the oil fields. He simply disappeared.

Rollo mourned him for a while. Even the old man missed him. They left his room as he had left it, with all his clothes, his well-tailored, expensive clothes, hanging up in the closet.

In the spring when Mrs. Mallory, the housekeeper, looked them over, she found they were full of moth. She sent them to the Salvation Army.

"Rollo says Willum cleared out without a word," Ruth told Joan one day. "He started for Bakersfield after a little tiff he had with the old man, and he simply never arrived. Can you beat that? Left all his clothes behind, and everything I wrote Rollo not to worry, he'd be back. Shouldn't wonder he'd turn up here again. You know I was in love with that boy for a while."

"I know," Joan said. "Say, wouldn't it be funny if he came back, and we fell out over him again? I never will forget your face that night I started to introduce him. Fascinating devil. I don't know why especially, that kind of lumberjack guy about him. I tell you, Johnnie, if he ever comes back—"

Joan let her talk uninterrupted. It had been a long time since Bill's name had the power to stir her. He was no longer a part of her life. It was as if she had lost a limb, and learned to do without it.

But when sea-green eyes were misty when she answered, "I'm sorry he did that. He might have made something of himself. He'll never come back, Ruth."

"Well, for heaven's sake—how do you know?"

"I don't know—but I'm sure of it."

"Good riddance to bad rubbish!" Maisie said, when Joan told her. Somehow Joan wanted Maisie to know, Maisie who knew so much already. "Thank goodness, that's over!"

But Maisie didn't entirely put him out of her mind. She loved Joan. And she believed in ghosts.

Bill was gone, and nobody knew where he was.

Ruth consoled herself with a young man from the Dutch East Indies, a young man who wore flat Derby hats, and fawn-colored spats. He spoke with a thick, syrupy accent.

"He helps to pass the time," Ruth said. "It's a cinch I won't marry Rollo until the old man comes through with some cash."

"You would if you loved him," Joan said in the serious, good-little-girl voice that always made Ruth laugh.

"Love! What's that? There's no such thing!" She lunged the expensive hat she had been trying on back into its box, and slammed the cover shut.

"She's thinking about Bill," Joan thought, and a queer, jagged pain shot through her.

Ruth kept her from forgetting Bill. When she wasn't talking about him, she was thinking about him. Joan knew she was. Looking out of the window with a pensive look in her bright dark eyes. Looking at Joan, long and speculatively, wondering about her and Bill, wondering how much he had loved her, how much she had loved him.

"He failed us both," Ruth told her. "We're in the same boat, she and I."

He was in Joan's thoughts constantly now. It wasn't that she wanted him back. She would have covered from him had he come. But the memory of that love that had once seemed so clean and beautiful and proud rankled. It had been dragged in the mud. She had loved him. He had smiled at her with his beautiful, clear blue eyes that seemed so loyal and true...

...and slipped out of her life about half of sunlight. Bright and warm for a minute, gone so soon... nothing left to touch, nothing to call to...

Christmas came. A lonely day in spite of the mound of tissue paper packages Maisie piled on the library table under the imitation Christmas tree with its fat green and red and yellow balls, and the star of Bethlehem on the top. Curtis' gift came in a big wicker basket. Silver Princess, a pedigreed Persian cat, teased beautiful Joan had ever seen, but she was a little feline aristocrat to be a real comfort.

The New Year's Eve party at the Barstow's was another disappointment. Getting ready for it, slipping into the honey-colored robe de style and the perfume had given her at Christmas time, she felt perfectly still while Maisie crawled around on her knees, making sure the long, full skirt hung just right, and letting cool damp whiffs of jasmine spray into her hair from Maisie's cut glass atomizer, was the best part.

There were too many people at the party. Too many inimical, laughing girls. Too many amorous, bored looking young men who were tired of dancing and wanted to take her down town for "some real stuff."

But Maisie didn't laugh. She got up slowly. There was no use in talking to Joan, she'd just have to learn for herself.

"Don't put him off too long," she said to Joan. "I'm sure you'll find him. He's a little bit of a mystery, but he's changed his mind."

In the morning Joan was too ill to go to work. Only a bad cold, but Maisie wouldn't hear of her going to the shop.

Curtis telephoned twice, but Joan didn't want to see him. "Please don't let him come, Maisie—wait till tomorrow. I'll feel more like it then."

So Curtis went out to the links to play golf.

Mrs. Curtis Barstow also went out. She went to Sausalito. "It's probably a wild goose chase," she thought as she sat back against the cushions of the big, comfortable car, waiting for the auto ferry to cross the bay. "But it's a chance, and I'll not leave one unturned..."

...there must be something queer, she's so mysterious about it... besides he really seemed interested in Eugenia the other night. Now if I can just find something...

Loy, Alice Brady who makes her first talkie appearance in this picture following her recent stage triumphs in "Mademoiselle" and "Morning Becomes Electra" and Frank Morgan who contributed a memorable portrayal to "Reunion in Vienna."

The thesis of "When Ladies Meet" is based on the conclusion of what would happen when the wife of a philandering husband meets the woman on whom his husband is now lavishing his attentions. The plot achieves its originality on the fact that its situation is so ingeniously arranged that neither of the rival women is aware of the other's identity. They are unexpectedly brought together at the home of a friend and before long take each other into mutual confidence. When each subsequently discovers who the other is, the sparks begin to fly.

The settings in "When Ladies Meet" range from a millionaire's mansion on the Hudson River to a rambling and picturesque residence on a farm house in Connecticut. They were designed by Cedric Gibbons with interior by Edwin Willis, and are said to have attracted considerable attention during the filming of the production.

Myrna Loy and Ann Harding in a scene from "When Ladies Meet," coming Sunday and Monday to the Clifton Theatre.

AT THE CLIFTONA
 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's cinema version of "When Ladies Meet," one of Broadway's biggest hits of the present season, will be at Cliftona at the Cliftona Theatre. The Cosmopolitan photoplay version of the successful Rachel Crothers play was directed by Harry Beaumont who was given an unusually generous freedom in selecting prominent stage and screen artists to fill the principal roles of the comedy-drama.

Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery have the co-starring roles and the other principals are Myrna

"WHAT A PITY you have a sty. It is sure to return regularly for at least seven years."

Such was part of a conversation I overheard in a trolley car the other day. The victim's eye had been swollen and on it was a discharging sore.

There was a no doubt the trouble was a sty, but there was great doubt in my mind as to the necessity for recurrence, if the proper treatment should be administered.

If you have ever had a sty you will agree with me that it is one of the most annoying and really distressing afflictions of the eye. It is unpleasant to look at and difficult to endure.

The disturbance is often attributed to some disorder of the blood. In reality it is an infection of one of the glands in the margin of the eyelid.

The victim first notices a redness of the eyelid. The lid begins to swell and from day to day the inflammation increases in severity. The swelling grows greater and a yellowish pus appears on the margin of the lid.

Method of Treatment
 After a few days the small abscess ruptures by itself and the pus escapes. The swelling then subsides, the pain disappears, and within a few days the patient has no discomfort.

Hot boracic acid solution should be applied to the afflicted eye. The solution is repeatedly applied with bits of sterilized cotton, keeping the temperature of the liquid as hot as possible. The heat brings the infection to a "head," and encourages the pus to escape. As the cotton becomes contaminated, discard it and use a fresh supply.

One of the favorite prescriptions for local application is one per cent yellow ointment of mercury ointment. This is applied to the lid margin. Do this before retiring at night and cleanse in the morning with warm boracic acid solution. If pain persists and the swelling does not subside it is important that you consult with your physician.

Cause of Recurrence
 Unfortunately the patient is so relieved when the pain disappears that he is careless and pays no further attention to his eyes. As a result, the infection reappears and he is again the victim of this unpleasant ailment. The second infection may be more stubborn and this time it may be necessary to have the abscess incised.

Lack of cleanliness and rubbing the eye with dirty fingers leads to this annoying infection. It is most common when the body is in a weakened condition because of constant body fatigue, caused by lack of sleep, wrong eating, or some chronic disorder of the body.

If the eyes itch and bother you, bathe them in a cool solution of boracic acid. If you get a great deal and suffer from eye strain, it is best that you consult an expert. It may be you require glasses or, if you have glasses, you should make sure to wear them whenever necessary. Bear in mind that properly prescribed glasses insure normal vision and prevent any unnecessary strain on the eyes. They help to preserve eye health.

TO LOSE FAT

Miss M. Kather of Brooklyn, N. Y. writes: "I have used Kruschen for the past 4 months and have not only lost 35 pounds but feel so much better in every way. Even for people who don't care to lose weight, Kruschen is wonderful to keep the system healthy. It being a man should know for I've tried so many things but only Kruschen answered all my needs." (Mar. 15, 1932).

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—do this morning—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—get Kruschen Salts at any drugstore in America. If not fully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

No Love Lost

WASHINGTON—Some of the intentional horizon-scanners with pipe-lines to F. D. R. predict that the United States and Great Britain are in for an era of none too good relations. They cite three disturbing factors: 1. War debts, of which Britain probably will not pay more than 10 per cent; 2. Latin American, where a terrific trade war is raging; 3. The Far East, where Sir John Simon is going to do anything except support American policy. The Rapidan honeymoon is over. A. F. H. Wiggin, C. M. G. First Secretary of the British Embassy, is the best golfer in the Diplomatic Corps. While attached to the British Embassy in Rome he entered the national Italian Golf Tournament, and to his great surprise came out the winner.

Japanese Wedge

American naval men were worried recently by secret dickerings between the Japanese and Brazil for the construction of a Brazilian naval training ship. There is a large Japanese colony in Brazil and it looked like a Japanese naval wedge on the South American continent. After some under cover wire-pulling a British firm finally got the job. Jefferson Caffery, slated to take Summer Welles' place as Ambassador to Cuba, has been fretting because the Cuban crisis keeps him in Washington. Caffery has several hundred acres of cotton in southern Louisiana which he wanted to look after before he began his new job.

Consumption

What some of the Recovery experts are watching especially is increased consumption of "producer" commodities, that is, steel, lumber, metals and the materials which go into factory producing equipment. This is be-

Under Fire

J. F. T. O'Connor, Comptroller of the Currency, is under heavy fire on the question of opening closed banks. One point at which his foes are aiming is the retention of Deputy Commissioner F. G. Awall, a Hoover hold-over.

He is supposed to do the work for the inexperienced O'Connor. Don Roper's secret maneuvering to bring the permanent NRA organization under his Department of Commerce is encountering heavy sledding.

General Johnson has a deep-rooted antipathy to established bureaucratic agencies, is insistent that the NRA be continued as an independent institution.

He is willing, however, to co-ordinate its statistical and conciliatory activities with those of the Commerce and Labor departments.

The last has not been heard yet to Huey Long's fist encounter on Long Island.

The sponsors of the move to award his anonymous assailant a gold Kingfish medal have a spectacular stunt that they plan to spring soon.

Greetings, Students SMILES OR TEARS? YOU MUST GO

The opening of a new school year is a time of either great satisfaction or keen regret. Students either rejoice or are sorry that they must return to school again. Teachers filled with a desire to help boys and girls welcome the opportunity which a new group of students brings. The teacher with this motive of service dreams the opening and each succeeding school day and is cheered only by the prospect of financial remuneration. No matter what the salary may be, the latter is overpaid and the former is underpaid. Those in charge of organization are perplexed by the failure of students and teachers to fit into the organization or feel a keen satisfaction with the attitude of students and teachers. I can feel nothing but satisfaction with the first week of this year. Every teacher has shown a fine spirit of cooperation in putting into operation a very complex schedule and given close attention to all matters which would make smooth operation certain. Students have followed instructions given and have manifested a desire to do good work. We need to nurture this early enthusiasm that it may thrive throughout the year and we may reap the harvest of a year of high accomplishments.

E. I. Gephart, Principal.

"WELCOME"

New pupils, you are welcome here. You'll learn our system, have no fear, and soon become accustomed to the work we high school students do.

Teachers new in C. H. S., you're feeling strange, or I miss my guess. But that will shortly pass away—You'll find new friends here, every day.

—Charles Diehlman

Band Rehearses First School Day

Due to the short interval from now until the opening of the Pumpkin show the Circleville High School band met in the auditorium on Monday, Sept. 11, the first day of school, to rehearse for the big festival.

Mr. C. F. Zaenglein, the director and founder of the band, announces that some members of the Junior band will be promoted to fill vacancies caused by graduation.

The Junior band was organized two years ago for this purpose. It was decided that practices will be held twice a week on Mondays and Fridays until Pumpkin show, instead of the customary once a week.

Announce New Office Staff

Due to graduation many vacancies in the office staff were made.

The position that is most widely sought is that of aid to Miss Ryan and Mr. Cress in the commercial department. This position is to be filled by Evelyn Roof and Dorothy Bartley. This is a position that offers a great deal of experience in letter writing, dictation, stencil cutting, etc.

In Mr. Daley's office there are also three girls: Margaret Bower, Margie Brown, and Luella Baxter. Those on the staff in Mr. Gephart's office are Betty Brown, Dorothy Bartley, and Margie Merz. These girls attend to getting out tests and other documents.

Class Has 13 Cub Reporters

Among the twenty students in the Journalism class this year are seven who have been in the class before. These are Harry Hosler, Emanuel Hundley, Lyman Englund, Elizabeth Dowden, George Speakman, Marie Briner, and Loren Crothers.

In addition to these former members of the class there are thirteen beginners. These include James Smith, Charles Diehlman, Virginia Cady, Virginia Cartright, Harold Sharpe, Mary Ann Sapp, Jack White, George Rader, James Henderson, William Towers, Junior Sweeney, and Marvane Wallace.

Due to the scarcity of experienced members Charlotte Moore, Horace Gilmore, and George Ammer have volunteered to help with the editions.

Assistance from other students who may be interested will be welcome.

Seniors to Organize

Next Wednesday is the date scheduled by Mr. Gephart for naming of officers by the Senior class.

The officers of this class last year were Bill Gunning, president; Betty Brown, vice-president; Dorothy Bartley, secretary-treasurer; Robert Fricke, sergeant-at-arms; and Denver Greenlee assistant.

LET'S BEAT LANCASTER!

STUDENTS GREET NEW TEACHERS

When the students reported at the high school on September 11 they found that the personnel had been changed in several departments.

In the superintendent's office this year is Mr. E. L. Daley. Mr. Daley was formerly Supervisor of grades in the Circleville schools. His work is too well known to need further comment.

Among the new faces seen was that of Miss Eleanor Ryan, a graduate of Circleville high school. Miss Ryan received her training at Ohio State university and at Office Training school in Columbus. She taught for a time in Carey, Ohio.

Mr. Virgil Cress, a graduate of Laurence high school, Michigan, attended Western State college, Kalamazoo, Michigan, and Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio. He has taught in Caldwell, Ohio, and Pleasant City, Ohio.

Mr. Frank Fischer, a third new faculty member, is likewise a graduate of our high school. Mr. Fischer also graduated from Capital university and attended Ohio State university and the University of London. Since his teaching experience at Jackson township where he was superintendent for several years and at Lake Forest academy, Mr. Fischer has been engaged in industrial work in Chicago and Buffalo.

Mr. Cress is the head of the commercial department. Miss Ryan teaches commercial subjects and girls' physical education. Mr. Fischer teaches American history, English III, journalism, and dramatics.

Jane Littleton Elected New Drum-Major

Jane Littleton, a sophomore and drum major of the Junior band for the last two years, has been elected drum-major of the Circleville High School band.

The election was held in the high school auditorium Friday evening. Those voting included only the members of the band.

STUDENT CALENDAR

Monday, Sept. 18—Principal E. I. Gephart will explain to the student body in an assembly program some further plans for the current school year relative to the school's clubs and organizations.

Wednesday, Sept. 20—The Seniors will organize and elect their class officers.

Friday, Sept. 22—First football game of the season to be played by C. H. S.'s new team at Lancaster in a night game. As yet it is not certain whether or not the C. H. S. band will play.

From Wednesday, Oct. 4, through Saturday, Oct. 7—The C. H. S. band's largest engagement of the year, that of playing for Pumpkin show.

New Assembly Plan

During the current school year all assembly programs of an educational or serious type will be held in the morning while those of the entertaining type are scheduled to be held in the afternoon, Principal E. I. Gephart announces.

25 CANDIDATES ANSWER CALL

When Coach Herberholz issued the call for football candidates on September 4, he was answered by about twenty-five youths among whom were two new boys.

One of these, Tom Harmon of Pittsburgh, is a candidate for center and being a rugged youth should go far in that direction. He also has had previous experience and that should help. The other whose name is Louis Bagent hails from Columbus and is also a fine candidate. He should also make the grade after receiving a bit of varsity experience.

Included in the group are seven of last year's lettermen: Gaines Hill, Kenneth Hill, Billy Steel, George Speakman, Fred Smith, Lee Cook, and Bill Robinson. Hopes are high that Circleville can put a winning aggregation on the field.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Thus far only two games have been scheduled to be played on the home gridiron.

The schedule follows:

September 22—Lancaster, night game. (there)

September 29—Open date.

October 6—Bexley (there)

October 13—Open date

October 20—Grandview (there)

October 27—Delaware (there)

November 3—Westerville (there)

November 10—Marysville (there)

Arrangements are being made to fill the open dates which occur on September 29 and October 13.

C. H. S. Gridders Meet Lancaster Next Friday

Circleville high school will open its football season at Lancaster, next Friday night at 8 p. m. It is expected a good many fans from

Lancaster 21	1930	Circleville 0
Lancaster 18	1931	Circleville 9
Lancaster 0	1932	Circleville 0
Lancaster ? ?	1933	Circleville ? ?

Circleville will attend because the time of the game is after working hours.

The Lancaster game is an annual affair and is long anticipated by Circleville fans, being the only night game of the season.

This will be the fourth night game Circleville has played with this team, once state champs.

Eighth Period For Activities

Most important among the changes to be found at school this year is the new use to which the eighth period has been assigned.

In the future this last hour of the day will be known as the Activities period. On Monday at this time the seniors will have music. Tuesday while the Freshman girls are having music, the Hi-Y will hold its meeting. The Freshman boys will have music on Wednesday. Thursday is Sophomore music day and Girl Reserves' meeting day. Friday is the day for Junior music and Junior Girl Reserves' meeting.

This coming week the E. M. S. and Home Economics club will begin taking names for any prospective members.

All Glee clubs will meet and practice outside school periods.

Record Largest Enrollment In School History

The largest enrollment in Circleville schools' history was recorded last Monday morning. Last year the enrollment was 1,565. This year it exceeds that by 93.

The high school has a total of 367 pupils. Last year's enrollment was 346.

The Freshman class leads with 106 pupils. The sophomores come next with 100, while the juniors and seniors follow with 84 and 77, respectively.

There are more girls than boys this year in every class except the Junior class. Here the boys exceed the girls by four.

A few more pupils are expected at the beginning of next week.

PRINCIPAL'S TOPIC IS ON "GENESIS"

After reading the first chapters of Genesis at the opening exercises of Circleville high school Monday morning, Principal E. I. Gephart chose as his theme the first three words of the Bible, "In the beginning."

These words Mr. Gephart applied to the beginning of the school year 1933-34. The importance of getting a good start in the work for the year was stressed.

After that the new teachers were introduced to the student body.

Several announcements were then made by Mr. Gephart, after which the students adjourned to their respective session rooms.

New Teacher Starts Monday

At a meeting of the Board of Education Thursday night Mr. Edward K. Povenmire was named to fill the position of Mr. S. T. Rife, lately resigned.

Mr. Povenmire is a graduate of Ohio State university and spent three years at Yale. He has had three years' teaching experience.

The new faculty member will arrive in Circleville sometime Saturday and begin his new duties Monday.

Miss Reba Lee of this city had been substituting until a successor to Mr. Rife was named.

Musical Try-Outs to Be Next Week

Next week, in the auditorium, tryouts for accompanists for all high school music classes will be held by Miss Tootle, the music supervisor. All pupils with any knowledge of piano technique are urged to try out.

Miss Tootle is also planning to organize the Glee clubs the first of October. Individual tryouts will be given to determine whether the pupils interested will be eligible to join.

Joint Meeting

This year, contrary to previous custom, the monthly social meeting of the Hi-Y and Girl Reserves will be held together.

O. S. U. PROFESSORS ARE GUESTS OF MR. BREHMER

Prof. Alex Laurie, head of the horticulture department at Ohio State university, Columbus, and his assistant, Gus Poesch, and Prof. L. C. Chadwick, head of the horticulture department at the university, were guests of Robert Brehmer, N. Court-st., at golf in the afternoon and dinner in the evening at the Pickaway Country club Friday.

MRS. BALES IS CLUB HOSTESS

Members of Mrs. R. R. Bales' bridge club enjoyed a delightful evening of cards at her home on E. Main-st. Friday evening, when they assembled for their weekly party. Guests of the club included Mrs. Howard Moore and Mrs. B. T. Hedges.

Bridge was in play at two tables and after several rounds high score prize was awarded Mrs. Brunelle Parrett Downing. Tempting refreshments served at the small tables brought the pleasant evening to a close.

SEWING CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. GEAKHART

Mrs. W. S. Gearhart, Watt-st., was hostess Friday when members of the Merry-makers sewing club assembled at her home for a pleasant social afternoon.

Twenty members and two guests, Mrs. W. C. Watson, of Pleasantville, and Mrs. Fred Dauenhauer, enjoyed the hours spent in sewing and the delicious refreshments served at their close.

The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. George Hammel, N. Court-st.

THREE U. B. GUILDS ENJOY PICNIC HERE

The district meeting of the Otterbein Guild of the United Brethren church was held Friday evening at the U. B. Community House in this city, with a picnic supper at seven o'clock.

Approximately forty representatives were present from the three guilds in the district including Chillicothe, Ashville and Circleville.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood, of the local organization, is group leader of the district and was in charge of Friday's meeting.

Following the picnic Miss Marietta Fortner, of Ashville, was in charge of several interesting stunts and games which were followed by a camp fire worship service. Songs were sung by the group and a poem was read by Mary Elizabeth Groce, this city. The friendship circle closed the service.

The three guilds will meet again the evening of Oct. 31 at the Community House at which time a covered-dish dinner will be served followed by a program.

BIBLE CLASS ENJOYS DINNER MEETING FRIDAY

Fifty-eight members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church enjoyed a dinner preceding their monthly meeting, Friday evening, when the losers of a membership contest, held in the spring, entertained the winners.

Candles lighted the prettily appointed tables centered with artistically arranged bowls of garden flowers for the dinner at 6:30 o'clock in charge of Mrs. Lester Coate.

Following the dinner hour a business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Edwin Shannon, after which a program was presented:

Mrs. James P. Moffitt rendered two vocal solos, "Pale Moon" and "Song of Songs." She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Constance Himrod.

Miss Wilmine Haecker entertained with a character reading, "My Poor Feet," and Hilarie Haecker played several musical instruments. His numbers included a chattering and harmonic duet, a chattering and solo and a harmonic selection.

The next meeting of the class will be held early in November at which time the Westminster Bible class of the Presbyterian church will be a guest.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THERE'S no use being too particular about what you say, and still you got to admit you can get into some awful jams by saying the wrong thing. Now, the best example of a pen that got himself an awful black eye. He looked like he had been in one of them riots for more cake and pie, but he said he wasn't. Then he explained all about it.

He was trying to be nice and polite to a convict that was leaving after his term was up. The guy was grinning when he walked to the door with the warden, and says, "Well, Warden, this is a mighty bright day for me. Goodbye!"

The warden made his mistake. "I'm mighty glad for you, Vic," he says, "and I sure wish you many happy returns!"

McDade Orchestra To Play At C. A. C.

Phil McDade and his colored orchestra of Columbus will provide music Saturday evening at the C. A. C. social plan dance. This orchestra has played at Moonlight Gardens, Elks, Sunken Gardens, Gloria night club, Pearl Palace and others.

The orchestra is being given a tryout for Pumpkin Show week. Orwell Barr, dance manager, announced.

LOGAN ELM GRANGE TO HAVE INSPECTION

All members of the Logan Elm Grange are requested to be present for the regular meeting to be held Tuesday evening at Pickaway-twp school. Annual inspection will be held at this session with Turney Glick, county deputy, as inspecting officer.

SATURDAY MARRIAGE OF INTEREST HERE

A marriage of interest to a number of friends here is that of Miss Jane Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spencer Jr., of Findlay, and Mr. Edward Lewis Spetnagel Jr., of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Spetnagel of Chillicothe, which was solemnized Saturday at high noon at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York.

Rev. Stephen F. Bayne Jr., a friend of the bride's family read the Episcopal ring ceremony in the presence of the families and a few Harvard classmates of Mr. Spetnagel and college friends of Miss Spencer.

A reception followed the wedding in the newly furnished apartment of the couple in New York, after which Mr. and Mrs. Spetnagel sailed for a two weeks' trip to Bermuda.

PERSONALS

Mrs. John Gallaher, of Chillicothe, will arrive Monday for a few days' visit with Mrs. Harold Grant, N. Court-st.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duffy and son Jimmy and Mrs. Gardner Duff of Cleveland, are guests of Miss Delf Phillips of Pickaway-twp.

Dean White left Friday for Delaware where he will enter Ohio Wesleyan university.

Mrs. H. W. Wickenhiser and son, Henry, and mother, Mrs. McIntyre, of Pittsburgh, Pa., were Friday overnight guests of Mrs. A. D. Newmyer, N. Court-st. They were enroute to their home from a visit in Chicago.

Mrs. W. C. Watson and daughter, Laura Jane of Pleasantville, returned to their home Saturday after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley, N. Court-st.

Mrs. Willard Story and daughter, Miss Ann of Washington, C. H., spent Friday with Mrs. Story's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Howard, E. Main-st. Miss Story has been spending the summer with her parents and will leave Monday for Ann Arbor, Mich., where she will enter her senior year at the University of Michigan. She will be president this year at Jordan Hall, one of the girls' dormitories.

Mrs. Vernon Lilly and children will return to their home in Detroit, Sunday, after a three weeks' visit with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Renick, and brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Renick, this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gearhart, N. Court-st., will have as their dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stoker and daughter, Harriett, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Winders of Columbus.

Cheney E. Burnham and B. B. Padback of Columbus, will be Sunday golf guests of Clark Will and C. G. Schulze.

M. E. PROGRAM

Following is Sunday's program at the Methodist Episcopal conference in Columbus which many local Methodists plan to attend because there are no church services here:

9 a. m. Conference Love-feast, Dr. W. H. Wehrly officiating.

Variety in Fall Millinery

JACKSON-TWP GROUP NAMED

George Gerhardt, Jackson-twp master farmer, was elected township chairman and Wayne Hoover and Nelson Baker were named township committeemen to work under the wheat adjustment act at a meeting of over 60 Jackson-twp wheat growers at the Jackson-twp school building Friday evening.

The meeting was very successful with almost a "100 per cent sign-up" according to Guy Dowdy, Pickaway-co wheat administrator, who was in charge of the meeting.

The Jackson-twp committee will hold a meeting at the township house Thursday afternoon to assist wheat growers in filing their applications and furnishing other data relative to the plan of curtailment of wheat acreage.

Mr. Dowdy said Saturday that the last date for filing applications will soon be here and he urges all wheat growers to come to the farm bureau home or go to the township committees to obtain blanks as soon as possible.

NEW HOLLAND

About 75 gathered at the home of Harry Hutchinson and family of C'sco, Friday evening, honoring Mr. Hutchinson's forty-sixth birthday anniversary. After a bountiful picnic supper the evening was spent in games and music. Among those to enjoy the evening were:
